Red Armies Storm Into Key Railroad Base on Kiev Road

More Than 300 Towns Captured In Drive Toward Dnieper River

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Russian armies have stormed into Bakhmach, key railroad junction on the road to Kiev, squeezed a menacing vise on Bryansk and dashed to within sixty miles of the Dnieper River in a swift advance from the liberated Donets Basin in the south, Moscow reported tonight.

More than 300 towns and villages were captured and more than 4,100 Germans were killed in today's victories that saw the Soviet armies push into the town of Nedrigailov, twenty miles east of Romni, and capture Lyudinovo, forty-five miles north of Bryansk.

The Moscow communique, recorded here by the Soviet radio monitor, told of Soviet aircraft ceaselessly pounding the German retreat road.

A German radio report, meanwhile, told of a new Russian threat in the south. It said Soviet troops made landings along the Sea of Azov coast south of Stalino, which would be in the vicinity of Mariupol. The Germans claimed the beachhead was "sealed off" and the Russians were "facing annihilation."

Even without the landings, the Soviet troops have driven eighty miles in two days as Nazi resistance appeared to be collapsing in this sector. Petrovka, thirty miles southwest of Stalino and forty-four miles northwest of Mariupol, was taken today, the Soviet communique said, and a total of 180 populated places were captured in advances up to ten miles.

With the capture of Bakhmach and Nedrygailov, the Soviets were moving toward Priluki, eighty miles east of Kiev. Nezhin is seventy-five miles from this major base. A general Soviet advance of six miles took eighty hamlets in this area, the communique said.

Moving on Bryansk from the north and south, the Red Army captured forty villages.

German Naval Units Attack Spitzbergen

Nazi Radio Claims Damage Inflicted

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP).—The German radio in a broadcast heard by The Associated Press tonight asserted that German naval units, assisted by marines, had made a heavy attack on Wednesday on Spitsbergen, Norwegian group of islands in the Arctic.

The broadcast claimed the attack force destroyed wireless and meteorological installations, munitions and fuel supplies.

D.N.B., the German news agency, claimed the holding forces suffered "heavy casualties" with a large number of prisoners taken. German losses were described as small.

British naval sources in London said they were unable to comment on the German account of the operation.

D.N.B. said the object of the raid, led by grenadier and marine regiments, was the destruction of all military establishments observed by the German air force.

"Extensive supplies of ammunition and fuel as well as wireless and meteorological installations of the enemy air and sea forces in the northern sea were of particular importance," the broadcast said.

"Moreover, it was intended to render unusable coal mines under construction, ports and other military installations of importance which formed an essential part of a bridgehead," the broadcast added. The Germans claimed the raid was carried out despite heavy artillery fire and "violent resistance" by the military garrison.

Spitsbergen has little strategic importance, giving rise to the theory that the Germans were seeking some means of distracting attention from the fall of Italy.

The islands, about 400 miles north of Norway, were awarded to that country in 1919 and coal mines were developed. Early in the war the Germans established a meteorological station there.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The conquest of Italy s triumphantly vindicates Premier Churchill's strategy, says The Times editorially today, pointing out how every British Dominion had its share in the victory.

South Africans helped to liberate Eastern Africa and fought in the north. Australians and New Zealanders fought doughtily to maintain the Empire's communications throughout the Middle East.

Canadian valor, so long held in restraint by the needs of the defence of Northern Europe, at last found scope in final decisive blows. Troops from India took a brilliant share. Finally, the seamen of the British Commonwealth endured every hardship and danger to free the Mediterranean from the enemy.

Badoglio's surrender, The Times points out, recalls the dictator's "hour of destiny." Within nine months of Mussolini's decision to despoil France his armies had been crushingly defeated in Libya, Albania and Ethiopia, his navy had been trounced and the hollow sham of Fascism exposed.

Since then, the Italians by themselves never won a single victory, Mussolini was a free agent when he decided for war. Today, ruined, de-

More Pay for Steel Workers

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—The National War Labor Board late today announced a decision granting wage increases to workers of the Algoma Steel Corp. at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Dominion Steel & Coal Corp. at Sydney, N.S., who at last March 23 were earning more than the minimum base rate.

The board's finding and direction was issued unexpectedly after E. B. Jolliffe, solicitor for the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) refused earlier in the day to proceed with an application for wage increases at the two plants because of the absence of J. L. Cohen, K.C., labor representative on the board.

The board's direction is retroactive to March 23 last, but does not apply to workers who have left the employ of the company since that time, with the exception of those who have joined the armed forces.

Workers at the Algoma plant who were receiving more than the base rate of 43½ cents an hour at March 23 are awarded an increase of 4½ cents an hour. At Dosco, workers who were receiving more than the 45½-cent base rate get an increase of 6½ cents.

The National Board dismissed an application for an increase of the base rate at the two plants from 50 to 55 cents an hour, but said its action did not prejudice the opportunity of the union to make a similar application to the Ontario and Nova Scotia Regional Boards.

The increase for higher paid workers followed advances to 50 cents an hour, granted by the National Board after hearings last March.

Record Fleet of Planes Attacks Continent; Ships Fill Straits of Dover

Invasion Craft Take Part Under Great Air Cover in Biggest Dress Rehearsal Ever Held

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP).—In crashing synchronization with the new Allied landings in Italy, record fleets of British and American aircraft battered Nazi ports and airfields in Northern France today, and in day-long operations also formed an umbrella for naval and landing craft that filled the Straits of Dover in an unprecedented dress rehearsal of a cross-Channel invasion.

Under cover of the mightiest daylight air fleet ever sent out from the British Isles, Combined Operations launched naval vessels, landing barges and all other manner of invasion craft in the biggest exercises of the kind ever held.

A night communique, issued jointly by the Air Ministry and United States Army Headquarters summarizing operations against the Continent, said American planes flew more than 1,000 sorties to hit multiple targets, including the Paris area, where, it was announced, Flying Fortresses downed fifteen enemy fighters.

The day's losses for the Allies were announced as ten planes—two heavy bombers, three medium bombers and five fighters.

The Channel invasion show—mock today; perhaps reality soon—climaxed the eighth consecutive day of terrific aerial offensive which may form the final prelude to assault upon Europe from the west.

Cohen Loses Post on War Labor Board

Appointment Revoked By Cabinet Meeting

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP). — The Cabinet, at a meeting this afternoon, decided to "terminate Mr. J. L. Cohen's membership of the National War Labor Board," Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced tonight.

Before the Cabinet at its meeting this afternoon was a letter from Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, board chairman, which said, in part, that "Mr. Cohen's attitude is completely inconsistent with the principles upon which the National War Labor Board was reconstituted in February of the present year."

Mr. Justice McTague's letter said further that: ". . . I cannot accept responsibility for conducting the work of the board on the principles agreed upon in continued association with Mr. Cohen."

Mr. King's brief statement said this letter was "carefully considered by the Cabinet" at the afternoon session, which decided to terminate the Toronto lawyer's connection with the board.

Mr. Cohen was labor's representative on what has been described by the Prime Minister as a body in-

Truman Committee On Kiska Island

KISKA ISLAND, Sept. 6 (Delayed) (AP).—The Truman committee came to this distant Aleutian Island today, three weeks behind the United States and Canadian reoccupation forces, and expressed the belief that Kiska and Attu should be developed into major bases.

The visitors were Senators Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.) and Harvey Kilgore (D., W. Va.) of the Senate's War Expenditures Investigating Committee.

The senators expressed the belief the Aleutians form a natural short route to Japan, and that Kiska and Attu should be developed fully.

Defy Orders Italians Told

General Instructs Garrisons in Greece

CAIRO, Sept. 9 (AP).—Italian Gen. Carlo Vecchiarelli told Italian garrisons in Greece via the Athens radio last night to "have no dealings with either the Germans, British or Americans," Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied Middle Eastern commander, disclosed tonight.

Smiling grimly, Gen. Wilson said: "He'll get nowhere with that policy. If the Italians persist in that policy, their food and all supplies can and will be cut off."

Gen. Wilson had asked Italians in the Balkans to go home and surrender their arms to Allied soldiers, and others to "take possession by force of all fronts occupied by the Germans in the Dodecanese Islands." He made his broadcasts from here last night, and said Italian troops "are now obeying my, not German, orders."

Today, Gen. Wilson told a press conference that Vecchiarelli's passive instructions were the first reaction to his own orders.

Gen. Wilson said the Italian general was tasting bitter fruits of the war, since he was a representative on the Italian armistice commission.

In Difficult Fight After Armistice

Canadians and British Battle Strong Forces

SOUTH OF PIZZO, Italy, Sept. 8 (Delayed) (AP).—Landing from the sea in the half-moon bay of Pizzo and fighting throughout the day to consolidate their beachhead seventeen miles behind the Axis front, the British-Canadian Eighth Army carried out the last offensive operation against the Italian army today not knowing of Italy's unconditional surrender.

Companies of khaki-clad troops had a hot fight against superior enemy forces and our dead lie now beneath dusty blankets, for their comrades have not had time yet to dig their graves in alien soil.

Even now orange flashes stab the horizon where British warships are carrying on bombardment of distant enemy coastal batteries.

Wednesday's amphibious attack, which gained Capes Vaticano and Cozzo and the towns of Mileto and Vibo Valentia, may seem in historical perspective to have been of military irrevelancy, but it lived up to the highest standards of commando courage.

The desperate German rearguard, fearful of being bottled up in the seventeen-mile stretch between Messina and Angitola Rivers, nearly smashed the small Pizzo bridgehead before their counter-attack was broken up.

Three German motorized units struck at the flank of the invading force, but a well-directed grenade exploded inside the lead vehicle, killing all the occupants. The other armored cars stopped, withdrew and the entire German force behind them turned and dashed toward the interior.

The commandos continued inland but failed to make contact with the Germans again.

New Order to Further Halt Job Transfer

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—New regulations tightening the restrictions on job changes are expected to be announced shortly, it was learned in official quarters today.

Details of the changes are not likely to be made known until complete instructions for their enforcement have been sent to the more than 200 Selective Service offices throughout Canada.

With new manpower resources at a low point, emphasis now is being placed on increasing the efficiency of labor employed in essential work. The new regulations are understood to be aimed in this direction, by checking wastage through labor turnover.

Existing regulations have frozen some essential workers to their jobs. These freezing orders apply to coal mining, shipbuilding, base metals, farming and school teachers.

Workers in other occupations are free to leave their jobs at any time but must obtain a permit to seek or accept a new job and these permits may be restricted to direct them into certain types of higher priority work.

Strike Tying Up Lakehead Ports

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 9 (CP).—Freight sheds were deserted today and four vessels, with cargoes from the East, were tied up, unable to unload, as a result of a strike of 550 freight handlers in Fort William and Port Arthur.

The men, employed by Canada Steamship Lines, demand wage increases, following an application made some months go to the War Labor Board.

They were asked by the board last night to defer strike action for twenty-four hours, but refused, and the night shift quit their jobs early today.

Report Hitler Decides To Make Stand in North

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Adolf Hitler, trapped in the centre of his own wavering European fortress, was reported to have called a hurried war conference today, at which it was decided to reinforce the Po River line in Italy and fight there to the last man.

Apparently determined to make Italy a bloody battlefield despite her capitulation, Germany moved swiftly to seize important communication centres and strategic points to offset gains already made by Allied landing forces and appeals to Italian forces to turn against their former allies.

Berlin announced that Italian troops had occupied the vital Brenner Pass and, with announcement that some key communications were held by Italians "loyal to the Axis" intimated that the Pass itself might be in friendly hands.

Germany also swung quickly into action across the Adriatic, occupying the Dalmatian area of Yugoslavia's southwestern coast in an attempt to block any Allied invasion of the Balkans through that gateway. The seizure, the broadcast said, was carried out with the aid of Croat puppets.

Other German broadcasts acknowledged that Italian troops already had turned against the Germans in some parts of Italy, but claimed that the Italian internal situation was generally under German control.

Reports from the Balkans said that Italian divisions which have been used as occupation troops were being disarmed and replaced by German divisions.

A dispatch in the Berne newspaper Der Bund said strong Italian

Say Mussolini Already Turned Over to Allies

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Friday) (CP).—A Reuter's News Agency dispatch from Stockholm today quoted the Italian newspaper Corriere Della Sera as saying that Benito Mussolini, deposed Fascist Duce, had already been delivered to the Allies and transported to North Africa.

Lt.-Gen. Clark's Forces Establish New Bridgehead

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Friday) (CP).—The London Daily Mail said today that Italy's most powerful warships, three 35,000-ton battleships, the Littorio, Vittorio Veneto and Impero, had escaped with a fleet of cruisers and destroyers from La Spezia and now are steaming for Allied ports.

Other London morning newspapers carried the same report, quoting the Rome radio.

The Mail's account of the escape said there were indications that British warships are providing protection as the Italian ships steamed swiftly down the West Italian coast.

ALLIES BATTLE TO HOLD BRIDGEHEAD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Sept. 9 (AP)—Strong British and American forces under Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark hammered out a bridgehead near Naples today in a dawn landing that overpowered a number of stoutly resisting German troops embittered by Italy's unconditional surrender.

"Operations are proceeding satisfactorily," said an Allied communique of this landing one-third of the way up the Italian peninsula.

The troops, led by Gen. Clark, United States hero of the submarine mission to North Africa that paved the way for the successful Allied invasion there last November, "are in contact with German forces and prisoners have been taken," the bulletin added. "The disembarkation of troops with their guns and vehicles is proceeding according to plan."

Whether Canadian units make up part of the Allied force at Naples was not clear though one London dispatch Thursday speculated that Canadians went ashore here.

"The flags of Canada are in all probability going forward in that area," wrote Associated Press Correspondent William Smith White from London.

DESTROY NAZI HEADQUARTERS

Before the troops struck the shore near Naples three waves of heavy bombers had destroyed the German military nerve centre at Frascati, twelve miles outside Rome, in a neat culmination of events that has staggered the Axis both politically and militarily.

The paralyzing blow at Frascati occurred six hours before yesterday's announcement of the Italian surrender. Nearly every building in the resort city had been occupied by German military authorities. These were leveled by

Australians Two Miles Out of Lae

Japanese Defences Practically in Ruins

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Sept. 10 (Friday) (AP).—Australian troops have closed to within two miles of the Malahang airdrome at Lae, New Guinea, and the Japanese defences of Lae have been reduced "to practical ruin" by more than 500 tons of bombs dropped by Allied planes in less than a week.

Softening-up the enemy base for capture by Allied forces advancing almost unopposed from both the northeast and northwest through difficult jungle terrain, Allied bombers have destroyed enemy artillery, destroyed or disrupted installations and heavily punished the Japanese garrison, headquarters said today.

New big guns are being rolled forward to add their fire power in devastating the isolated enemy garrison.

Allied light surface units, probably destroyers, ventured into narrow waters between New Guinea and New Britain to shell the Huon Peninsula coastal area around Finschhafen.

Finschhafen is sixty miles east of Lae.

Allied paratroopers and Australian reinforcements who have been landing since September 5 in the Markham Valley behind Lae are sending forward advance elements.

"They have passed through Mumum and Narakapor and are approaching the main western bastion of the enemy's prepared positions at Heaths Plantation," headquarters said.

Earlier in the week Heaths Plantation defences virtually were destroyed by a heavy Allied air attack.

Near Salamaua Allied warships bombarded the waterfront shooting down at least two of the enemy planes which attacked them. A third plane probably was downed.

BULLETINS

AFTER DRAFT DODGERS

TORONTO, Sept. 9 (CP).—Eleven persons were arrested and eighty-six others were questioned by police in a sweeping search late today of poolrooms, bowling alleys and suspected bookmaking resorts for suspected draft dodgers and persons evading National Selective Service regulations.

PARACHUTISTS IN REICH

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—The German news agency, D.N.B., said in a Berlin broadcast tonight that Allied parachute agents were being dropped occasionally in Germany "in an attempt to shake the internal front," and warned that persons who previously had aided such parachutists had been shot.

Driving On

A conquering Soviet Army is making smashing gains along numerous points on a 600-mile-long front. In the drive toward Smolensk, pivot of the German front, Stalin's troops captured more than 100 towns. A gain of twelve and a half miles west of Kursk resulted in the retaking of 160 towns. Farther south, Russians units moving through the Donets Basin mining regions advanced to capture strategic Stalino.

Ratepayers Protest Dr. Thomas Dismissal

Resolution Passed by 350 Property Owners of Saanich Goes to Education Minister Today

More than 350 ratepayers of the Saanich school district met last night at Mount View High School to protest against instructions of the Minister of Education to the local school board that Dr. J. M. Thomas be relieved of his position as principal of Mount View High School. The resolution of protest was later presented to the school board and will be taken before the minister today by delegates appointed by the meeting.

In moving the motion of protest, G. Kilshaw stated that the Saanich Council had exceeded its authority by instigating an investigation. He pointed out Clase 14 of the Judge J. O. Wilson's report, which stated that Dr. Thomas showed "great abilities" which the Judge hoped would be used further in the educational sphere. Mr. Kilshaw said that it did not seem, in his opinion, to warrant the removal of the principal from his position.

The principal's reputation and the honor of his family were at stake, Mr. Kilshaw stated, and it was up to the parents to "help him over this difficult time."

Mr. Wilkinson said he fully expected the principal would be recommended for an increase in pay instead of being dismissed. He wished to go on record as demanding that the principal continue in his present position, that he be granted assistance and needed equipment, and also a vice-principal which Dr. Thomas had requested.

PUPILS REFLECT GREAT CREDIT ON PRINCIPAL

Rev. Thomas H. McAllister said that the greater part of the pupils came from his district and that he had found parents and children grieved over the ruling and in support of the principal. "There are no finer young people anywhere. They reflect great credit on the principal of the school," he said.

H. Charlesworth, Vancouver, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, also spoke for the motion.

The motion, which was passed unanimously, read:

"Whereas the Council of the Municipality of Saanich asked for an inquiry into the administration of Mount View High School, within their rights, but without assent or asking approval of the elected Board of Trustees;

"And whereas the Minister of Education granted such request;

"And whereas the findings of the inquiry would appear not to warrant the drastic action of dismissal of the principal:

"Be it resolved, that this meeting protest publicly the instructions of the minister to the Board of School Trustees that Dr. Thomas be relieved of his position as principal of Mount View High School;

"And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Minister of Education."

RATEPAYERS SUBMIT RESOLUTION

A delegation which submitted the resolution to the School Board included Major F. Waite, F. Stratholt, P. J. Bevis, M. P. Paine, Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Purkell, Mrs. Head and Rev. T. H. McAllister.

When presenting the motion to the board, Mr. Paine stated that: "We are determined, and we intend to see this thing through.

This delegation is more or less of a permanent nature, at least till the matter is settled.

Mrs. Bevis told the board that it was not in accord with British justice to jeopardize a man's reputation. "He has been made a pawn in a far bigger game," she declared.

Martin Neilson, chairman of the board, replied that he disagreed with the minister, and that the only solution he saw was to give Dr. Thomas another post, but this would be, in effect, demoting him.

In answer to questions from delegates the trustees stated that the matter of corporal punishment

War Production at Peak As Fifth Year Is Started

By JACK WILLIAMS

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Canadian war production has reached a peak of $55,000,000 worth of munitions a week as the Dominion enters its fifth year of war, Munitions Minister Howe said in a statement today.

Reviewing the war production programme, Mr. Howe made public new figures placing at $3,094,000,000 expenditures in the year ended September 1, 1943, on war production and construction, exclusive of food, metals, timber and other materials produced for war purposes but not under Munitions Department contracts.

Persons directly or indirectly employed in war work at that date were estimated at 1,100,000 and summaries of the production of specific war materials showed new highs.

"More than $800,000,000 has been spent on hundreds of new plants and thousands of new machines. Since peacetime industries have expanded to two, five and even ten times their former size," the statement said.

A departmental tabulation showed the steady increase in Canadian war production and employment in the actual war years, September to September, since the opening of hostilities.

	War Production Under Dept. Contracts	Employees Directly or Indirectly in War Work
Sept. 1, 1940	$ 255,000,000	300,000
Sept. 1, 1941	875,000,000	550,000
Sept. 1, 1942	1,937,000,000	940,000
Sept. 1, 1943	3,094,000,000	1,100,000

CALLED ON TO REPLACE EQUIPMENT

Canada's vast wartime industrial expansion dates from June, 1940, when the Dominion was called on to replace equipment Britain had been forced to abandon on the beaches of Dunkerque.

From that time the war effort on the Canadian industrial front has been divided into four periods: 1940, planning and organization; 1941, construction and expansion of industrial facilities; 1942, bringing facilities into production and constantly increasing output; 1943, peak production and revisions made necessary by the changing pattern of warfare.

"By the end of this year Canada will have launched approximately 750 ships and delivered more than 10,000 aircraft," Mr. Howe said. "Military vehicle production will have passed the 600,000 mark and armored fighting vehicle output the 35,000 level.

"The nation will have turned out nearly 100,000 guns, barrels and mountings as well as 1,000,000 small arms.

"It will have manufactured more than 1,000,000 tons of explosives and war chemicals; some 60,000,000 complete rounds of heavy ammunition, and well in excess of 3,000,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition. The total dollar value of the instruments and communications material output will be nearly $300,000,000."

LAUNCH FLEET OF FREIGHTERS

With the launching of the 200th Canadian 10,000-ton cargo ship last month, Canadian shipyards had to their credit the building within two years of a fleet of freighters equal to 10 per cent of the total merchant tonnage of Great Britain at the beginning of the war.

In twenty-three major shipyards, sixty-five smaller boatyards and in the large component industry supplying their requirements there are employed some 100,000 people.

More than 800 ships have been sent down Canadian ways since the outbreak of war—merchant vessels, frigates, corvettes, mine sweepers and patrol vessels. Overall commitments for shipbuilding in the Dominion total $1,000,000,000, of which about one-half is earmarked for cargo vessel construction, more than $15,000,000 for small boats, $15,000,000 for ship repair and overhaul and the balance for escort and fighting ships.

Under the aircraft production programme more than 9,000 planes have been delivered. Employed in the Canadian aircraft industry and component factories there now are 100,000 workers, more than one-quarter of them women.

From the Canadian automotive industry are flowing more than 100 types of vehicles. The war production passed the 500,000 mark this Summer. The vehicles from their plants now are in action in every theatre of war.

From Europe

feated Italy is the result of that decision.

Emphasizing Rome's complete surrender, The Times' diplomatic correspondent says the terms imposed on Italy must remain secret because they are militarily important.

The first Italian approach to the Allies was made in August—three weeks after Mussolini's downfall. Accredited representatives of the Badoglio Government approached the British Government with a message desiring peace and help towards getting the Germans out of Italy.

The meeting took place on neutral territory, presumably Portugal, and Rome's delegates were told they must surrender without conditions or negotiations. Military terms were then given Badoglio as head of the Italian army.

All political and economic matters were reserved for future decision. On September 3, armistice was signed but kept secret lest German troops might seek to occupy Rome and suppress publication there.

As a precaution Badoglio was induced to send a copy of his surrender proclamation to Allied Headquarters in Sicily. Finally when all arrangements were made for general landings of Allied troops in Italy, the formal announcement of surrender was authorized. King George was first to receive the news.

The Times' military correspondent warns against the assumption the Allies have nothing to do but take over Italy. German troops are still there in force. They cannot hope to hold Southern Italy but will probably try to fight delaying actions along the River Po line. But the hostility of the whole Italian population in the rear of Hitler's forces will make immense difficulties for them.

Armistice terms concerning the Italian fleet cannot be disclosed until they are carried out lest the Germans should interfere, says The Times' naval correspondent, but it may be assumed that all remaining warships will eventually be taken over.

They would need much modification, however, before the Allies could use them and this would take some months. The Germans would probably consider the Italian submarines not up to their standard.

South African opinion does not show itself favorable to Premier Curtin's suggestions for a consultative Empire council, but would readily co-operate with the British Commonwealth and the United States on the lines of Premier Churchill's Harvard speech.

Bazaar to Aid War Work

To further their war work, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the T.V.A. at a meeting held Thursday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. M. Standerwick, who was in the chair, made plans for a bazaar to be held on October 16 at the clubrooms, 812 Blanshard Street. Proceeds from the affair will be devoted to Christmas parcels for men in the services. Mrs. Adam and Mrs. Young will convene a miscellaneous shower to assist the bazaar, and Mrs. M. Crabtree will be in charge of tea, assisted by Mrs. M. Fletcher and Mrs. F. Huelin.

Downtown Collision

James P. Smith and Mrs. J. W. Peet, both of 2848 Asquith Street, were removed to the Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment of minor cuts and bruises sustained at 6:45 p.m. when a car collided at Cormorant and Douglas Streets with a wood truck driven by Narain Singh, seventeen, of 811 Dupplin Road. City police are conducting an inquiry into the cause of the accident.

Dr. Cousland President of Association

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Dr. P. A. C. Cousland, of Victoria, was elected president of the British Columbia Medical Association at the annual meeting here.

Dr. A. Y. McNair, of Vancouver, was elected first vice-president and Dr. A. H. McNeely, of Nanaimo, second vice-president.

Directors include Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer, Victoria; Dr. I. S. Daly, Trail; Dr. C. H. Hankinson, Prince Rupert; Dr. H. H. Millburn, Vancouver, and Dr. O. A. C. Roberts, Chilliwack.

Dr. A. Howard Spohn, of Vancouver is retiring president.

big American bombers, officials reports said.

Other bombers from the Middle East also dumped 150 tons of explosives on the Foggia expanse of airdromes less than 100 miles east of Naples to facilitate the big amphibious operation.

The landing occurred a few moments after 4 a.m. (9 p.m. C.D.T. Wednesday) under cover of a powerful barrage laid down by the British and American navies.

An idea of the size of the Allied force was gained from a Canadian reconnaissance pilot, Flying Officer John Anthony Vasicek, of Chatham, Ont., who said the convoy expedition to Naples covered a sea surface of 1,000 square miles "swarming with an invasion fleet."

Berlin radio said the landing occurred in the Salerno Gulf at Amalfi, twenty miles south of Naples, and also acknowledged that Italian troops deserting the Axis banner by Marshal Badoglios orders had clashed with German forces in various parts of Italy. One German broadcast recorded by The Associated Press said Italians had "occupied Brenner Pass"—vital link between Northern Italy and Germany—on Tuesday, twenty-four hours before the delayed announcement of Italy's surrender. It was not immediately clear whether these Italians were pro-Allied or pro-German.

ITALIANS REPORT MORE LANDINGS

Italians in Madrid reported additional Allied landings had been made on the island of Sardinia, and said that Italian troops in Corsica, between Sardinia and the French mainland, were expecting Allied planes to make at least "token landings" at Corsican airfields which are in Italian possession.

There was no Allied confirmation that Allied troops also had landed at Civitavecchia above Rome and at Leghorn on the Gulf of Genoa.

German reaction was resolute, but it was said here that the opposition was no greater than had been anticipated. Some of the first Allied units ashore in the Naples area collided with German defenders, but in an all-day fight established a foothold in the area of the big Italian port.

The crucial period is likely to come when the first strong enemy counter-attack is hurled at the Allies, as was the case in Sicily. The Germans are believed to have strong armored and artillery forces in the area in anticipation of Allied "leap-frogging" tactics along the Italian coast.

In Southern Italy, Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army, which includes Canadian contingents, executed another successful coastal leap early Wednesday at Vibo Valentia on the Gulf of Eufemia, thirty miles north of Palmi. Gen. Montgomery put his troops on boats and sent them up the coast after finding that demolitions were checking his direct land thrusts.

MORE TROOPS FOR MONTGOMERY

The Eighth Army already holds a forty-mile section of the Italian toe after gaining possession of the trans-peninsular road between Gioia and Locri, and is being steadily reinforced with troops dispatched from Sicily. More German prisoners have been seized in the fighting on that front, the communique said.

A smashing thrust toward Naples only ten hours after announcement of Italy's surrender threatened seizure of the port, which adjoins an immense north-south rail network in Italy. A German collapse in the area would trap sizeable enemy forces trying to stem Gen. Montgomery in the south.

Seizure of bomb-shattered Naples also would give the Allies a greater bridgehead for the landing of reinforcements in the drive toward Central and Southern Italy, where the Germans apparently have taken over control of large segments of the country.

The Italian Stefani News Agency in a broadcast recorded by United States Government monitors said the Germans had blown up the exits from the port and industrial regions of Naples and Genoa. The agency also quoted "rumors" that three German armored divisions were moving toward Genoa, and that the British navy was off that port.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful pressure of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Stores, or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic rule condition when such a time saving may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (Adv.)

Say Premier of Hungary Ousted

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Brazzaville radio said today in a French-language broadcast recorded by United States Government monitors that Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, had dismissed Premier Nicholas von Kallay.

"There probably will be an important announcement shortly by the Government," said the station in French Equatorial Africa.

The Brazzaville broadcast was not confirmed from any other quarter, but there have been frequent reports recently of Hungarian moves toward peace with the Allies and increasing resistance to German demands for increased war commitments.

Another such report came today from Stockholm. Hungarians in that neutral capital were said to hold that their country's leaders would withdraw now from the alliance with Germany. They said that Italy's action in breaking the Axis bloc freed Hungary as a signatory of the tri-partite pact.

Von Kallay's recent speeches have indicated that he was one of those favoring peace, and it was possible that German pressure had forced Regent Horthy to dismiss him.

tended to be conducted as an industrial court.

To his statement, Mr. King attached copies of Mr. Justice McTague's letter setting forth his position, dated today, and a previous exchange of correspondence between Mr. Cohen and the Labor Board chairman.

The order in council under which Mr. Cohen's membership on the Labor Board was terminated said the announced conception of the board "clearly envisaged an independent and judicial attitude on the part of its members."

It said Mr. Justice McTague in his letter to Mr. King had represented that Mr. Cohen's attitude was "completely inconsistent" with this principle.

It continued:

"And whereas Mr. Cohen's public statement, before the reports of the public inquiry conducted by the National War Labor Board had been submitted to the Government and on a subsequent occasion, indicate an attitude incompatible with the proper exercise of the functions to be performed by the members of the board.

"Now, therefore, His Excellency the Governor-General in council, on the recommendation of the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Prime Minister, is pleased to revoke and doth hereby revoke that portion of Order in Council P.C. 1141, 11th February, 1943, appointing Mr. J. L. Cohen, K.C., a member of the National War Labor Board, thereby terminating his membership on the said board."

With Mr. Cohen no longer a member of the board, the board comprises two members—Mr. Justice McTague as chairman and Leon Lalande, of Montreal.

CALLS ORDER A "REGRETTABLE ACT"

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada (A.F.L.), commenting tonight upon J. L. Cohen's dismissal from the National War Labor Board, said the order in council removing Mr. Cohen was a "regrettable act on the part of the Government and entirely at variance with the views expressed by the Prime Minister at the interview recently held with the labor representatives on this subject."

In his statement, Mr. Bengough said: "It is just another Elliott episode. Organized labor had confidence in the ability and integrity of Mr. Cohen in the same manner they had in Mr. Little (former Selective Service director). On this account neither one nor the other fitted in with the present administration in the Department of Labor."

Stand in North

formations were drawn up within a few miles of German troops in Northern Italy and near Venice.

Allied forces which landed on the Tyrrhenian coastline were reported in Berne to be moving northward with an advance guard of Italian troops.

Milan, Turin and other Northern Italian industrial cities were said to be completely under Italian control, with German troops leaving those places.

Clashes between German and Italian troops were reported to have taken place at Genoa, Tortona, Certosa and Pavia.

A Swiss Telegraphic Agency dispatch from Chiasso, on the Italian border, said the Italian garrison at Genoa was sharply resisting German troops, who were said to have occupied the entire city. Other reports said German divisions were advancing toward all the principal ports on the Ligurian Sea above Naples as a precaution against more Allied landings.

The Island of Corsica in the Northern Tyrrhenian Sea, a possible springboard to an Allied invasion of Northern Italy or Southern France, was reported from Madrid to be in Italian hands although there has been rumors all morning that the Germans planned an aerial assault on the island.

Other reports said that an Allied fleet lay off Corsica today, ready for any action, and that Allied planes were already landing on Corsican bases.

Million Tons of Flour May Be Sent to Britain From Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Canada has started a determined effort to provide the United Kingdom with about 1,000,000 tons of flour—an order twice as large as that announced yesterday as having been granted to Australia, Trade Minister MacKinnon said today.

He told The Canadian Press that Canada now is "working on" the order to supply the flour to Britain as speedily as possible. Every effort is being made to increase production of Canadian flour mills to meet the unusually heavy demand.

It appeared that Britain is building up large stocks of flour, and some authorities speculated that these supplies will be held available for use in feeding the liberated countries of Europe as the war proceeds.

A part of the British flour purchase probably will be covered by the $1,000,000,000 "Mutual Aid" Bill approved by the Canadian Parliament at its last session.

Officials said arrangements have been made under which, effective September 1, British purchases of Canadian wheat will be paid for in Canadian dollars. This means Canadian offers of wheat will be quoted in Canadian dollars instead of in sterling as in the past, and the price will be on the dollar basis.

HANDLE PART UNDER MUTUAL AID PLAN

This step makes it possible to handle part of British wheat and flour purchases under the mutual aid plan, since the amount voted for this purpose by Parliament is in dollars.

Authorities said there can be no estimate what portion of the wheat or wheat-flour shipments will represent mutual aid from Canada, since the amounts will be determined from time to time by the mutual aid board.

There was no indication of the price to be paid for the flour, but it was assumed by informed sources that it will be no less than a rate based on the Canadian Wheat Board price for No. 1 Northern wheat at Fort William—ninety cents a bushel.

Some officials said it appears probable Canadian wheat or wheat flour soon will find its way into Italy, where the people have been on short bread rations for almost two years. Following the Italian capitulation announced yesterday, it was expected food supplies would follow the United Nations' armies entering Italian territory.

Negotiations for the provision of 1,000,000 tons of flour from Canada were completed between the British and Canadian Governments recently, Mr. MacKinnon said.

Brother of Victoria Man Dies at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Sept. 9.—John Roberts, sixty-four, of Errington, died in Nanaimo Hospital tonight. He was a retired C.P.R. engineer, coming from Alberta to Errington in 1939. He was a veteran of the South African War and of the first Great War.

Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, John Henry, Errington, and C. W. Roberts, serving with the forces overseas, and two daughters, Mrs. R. N. Yates, Errington, and Mrs. F. Topcliffe, Coombs. Walter Roberts, Victoria, is a brother.

The funeral will be held under direction of the D. J. Jenkins undertaking firm at Errington on Sunday next, Rev. A. Bagshaw officiating.

Church of England General Synod Is Opened at Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 9 (CP).—Emphasis on the gravity of problems which will face the Christian church during the postwar reconstruction period was made tonight at the general synod of the Church of England in Canada.

The fifteenth session which opened today is the first since 1937 when it met in Halifax.

A stirring call to the church to advance in all departments of its work was made at the evening session by Most Rev. L. R. Sherman, Archbishop of Rupert's Land. He presented a statement prepared by a committee of the executive council to give a lead to the deliberations of the general synod.

The archbishop declared that the church must put first things first in facing up to the common challenge and the common task ahead of Anglicans in the Dominion today.

In the immensity of the problems before the church, he urged that the human equation should not be forgotten. Every priest from one end of Canada to the other should know that the synod is behind him in his work at this time.

"If we want this synod to go down as one of great importance and not one of impotence, the time to act is now," Archbishop Sherman said. "We have got to work from the inside out. The Church of England in Canada knows for what she stands and stands for what she knows."

The executive council committee's statement said that the general synod met in a critical hour in the history of mankind. The things the church stands for in the life of men and nations must claim priority and the only period worth building is a Christian world.

The need of more candidates for the ministry was emphasized in the committee's statement and publicity for the church's work was said to be inadequate. Adequate stipends for missionary clergy as well as increased pensions for clergy generally were advocated. The appointment of a full-time secretary of general synod and its committees was also urged.

The lower house elected Rev. Canon H. F. D. Woodcock, Christ Church, Toronto, as prolocutor on the second ballot. Canon Woodcock, Chancellor Reginald V. Harris, Halifax, and Very Rev. Cecil Swanson, Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, were nominated for the post. The voting on the second ballot was between Canon Woodcock and Chancellor Harris.

Indian Escapes From Oakalla

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Police today searched the Lower Mainland for Tommy Skin, Ootsa Lake Indian who escaped from Oakalla Prison Farm late yesterday while working in the fields. He was serving a nine-month sentence on charges of assault and theft of rifles. Warden H. Milliman said it was the first time in his thirty years' experience he had known a British Columbia Indian attempt escape from the jail.

Invasion Rehearsal

It was accompanied by far-flung operations, reverberations of which rocked buildings six miles inland in England.

THOUGHT INVASION WAS UNDERWAY

So tremendous was the demonstration, carried on under the noses of Nazi coastal defences, that many British coastal dwellers were convinced the invasion of France was actually underway.

But a terse official summary said only: "Full-scale amphibious exercises were . . . most successful. Valuable lessons were learned."

And as remarkable as the manoeuvres was the almost utter absence of resistance by the dwindling German air force to the aerial coastal onslaught. Allied bombers, many unescorted, droned through the skies almost unopposed.

Targets of the tremendous daylight assault included an aircraft engine factory near Paris; objectives in the Boulogne and St. Omer areas; and airfields at Beauvais-Lille, Beaumont-Sur-Oisne, Lille-Nord, Lille-Vandeville, Vitry-en-Artois, Abbeville-Drucat, Monchy-Breton, Bryas-Sud, Merville, all in France, and at Coxyde in Belgium.

No Canadian planes were reported missing.

Defy Orders

which dealt with France after that country collapsed in 1940.

Gen. Wilson said that no Italian aircraft or ships had arrived in Allied territories as yet to comply with his broadcast orders.

This, however, was not taken as an indication that the Italians were attempting to evade fulfillment of the armistice terms, the press conference was told by Richard Gardiner Casey, Minister of State in the Middle East.

Questioned, Gen. Wilson explained that the British-Canadian Eighth Army invaded Italy on the day the armistice was signed because there was no standstill order in the terms as there was in 1918.

"How could there be when there were still Germans in Italy fighting?" he asked.

Casey said that from the viewpoint of offering the greatest help to the Russians the campaign could be described as "the greatest success."

Casey said all arrangements were made in the armistice terms for getting back British prisoners of war, numbering about 59,000.

Army Enlistments

Enlistments in the Canadian Active Army at the Bay Street Armoury from Victoria and district during the past week included:

James L. Auchterlonie, 305 Huntington Place; Donald R. S. Bell, 1606 Morrison Street; Warren E. White, 3014 Shelbourne Street; Arthur S. Bennett, Canterbury Road; Reginald J. Erison, 2939 Qu'Appelle Street; David Edgar Jackson, R.R. No. 4, Cordova Bay; John A. Murray, 351 Kerr Avenue; Claude W. Hiles, 3461 Salisbury Way.

Shattered Dreams

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Germans have notified the Swedish stone industry to halt the quarrying of granite which they had ordered for the postwar construction of German victory monuments and official Nazi buildings. An enormous contract for the stone was issued at the beginning of the war. Huge blocks of red, black and grey granite have been stored in Sweden pending delivery to the Nazis.

Carriers Took Planes In for Raid on Marcus

Biggest Force Ever Sent Out in Pacific

PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 9 (AP). — The biggest aircraft carrier force ever sent on a single mission in the Pacific, boldly appearing 900 miles past Japanese-held Wake and within 1,200 miles of Tokio, sent bombing planes for eight hours over Marcus Island September 1 until enemy defences there had been laid waste.

Not a Japanese plane got off the ground. Not an enemy bomber showed up from other bases within range. Not a ship from Nippon's war fleet interfered at any time with the United States task force, simply bruising for a fight in so-called enemy controlled waters.

One-ton blockbuster bombs, dropped for the first time from carrier-based planes, blew up Japanese hangars, fuel, ammunition stores and living quarters and pock-marked two mile-long runways—facilities which the enemy had improved 400 per cent since Marcus first was raided in March, 1942.

From an aircraft carrier near Marcus, I saw these planes take off before dawn September 1 to begin the job of reducing Marcus to ruins. Hour on hour into midafternoon, dive bombers, torpedo bombers and fighters kept up a methodical pounding.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, in a communique yesterday disclosing the first details of the raid, estimated that fully 80 per cent of the military installations on Marcus were destroyed.

Saanich Protest

which formed the basis of the judge's decision following an official inquiry had come before the school board some months previous to the inspection of the school by two trustees.

Trustee Mrs. E. M. Bryce said: "As far as the board is concerned the matter of corporal punishment has been cleared up months ago, and that the incident is settled." The chairman, Mr. Nielson, agreed and quoted from the minutes of the meeting dealing with it.

Trustee Mrs. F. Patterson asked the chairman to have the delegation recalled after it had retired, so that she might present her reasons for approving of the principal's dismissal. She said she had changed her mind because of other incidents which had been brought to her attention.

The chairman stated: "I'm taking the stand that Dr. Thomas should fight it through."

Mrs. Patterson objected to the judge's recommendation that the school be improved when so many other schools in the district were in worse condition.

Rev. Mr. McAllister repeated his statements to the first meeting, adding: "I venture to say that 95 per cent of the people of Saanich will endorse the petition."

Inspector John Gough said he would make no comment other than that he had his instructions from the department.

The delegates will see Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, this morning, and present a petition from parents along with the protest.

The school board, which held a meeting Wednesday evening and arrived at no decision, decided to wait till the minister had been interviewed before taking any further action.

A summary of Judge J. O. Wilson's report follows:

Finding that Dr. Thomas was an intelligent, sincere and conscientious man, and that "the youthful witnesses seemed to me to be of a fine type, and not the sort who would be the product of a badly run school," the report of Judge J. O. Wilson, who sat as a sole commissioner in the inquiry into the affairs of Mount View High School, Saanich, recommended "with very great regret that Dr. Thomas be relieved of his position as principal at the school."

Judge Wilson added: "I have no doubt, and it is my earnest hope that further use will be found in the educational sphere in Saanich, or elsewhere, for this very great abilities."

Commenting on the single incident of corporal punishment which was the immediate cause of the investigation, the judge stated:

"I feel that the lack of judgment shown by Dr. Thomas on this occasion was largely due to the fact that he was under a heavy strain and overworked. To this extent he is the victim of a bad system," and he recommended that "the principal hereafter be free to devote most of his time to duties other than teaching."

The judge quoted a survey of schools in the Greater Victoria area, published in 1938, and entered as evidence, which states that "in a school of this size the principal should not have such a heavy teaching load (70 per cent of his time), but should spend a considerable part of his time in supervising instruction." He added the following comments in his summary:

SHOULD ONLY TEACH FOR FEW HOURS

"In my opinion no person administering a unit the size of Mount View should be expected to teach for more than a very small portion of his working hours, if at all. The principal of one of these modern schools must, if he is conscientious, do a great deal of reading to keep abreast of his work. He should be free to devote most, if not all, of his time to study administration and supervision.

"The bulk of the student witnesses greatly admired their principal," the report continues, and "the main function of a school is, after all, education. The unchallenged evidence shows that the school has been eminently successful in this, its primary duty. This very important fact must never be lost sight of."

Dr. Thomas' qualifications are listed earlier in the twenty-eight-page report. It states he was both a bachelor and a master of arts, and had taken the degree of professor of pedagogy from the University of Toronto. A veteran of the Great War, he had been a high school principal for twenty years and at Mount View since September, 1939. Dr. Thomas had been secretary of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation and president of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation.

Stating that the school board's failure to supply needed equipment had been "frugal to the point of persimony," the judge added:

"I do not feel that in their disputes with Dr. Thomas the faults of matter or of manner have been altogether on one side."

NEED INCREASED ACCOMMODATION

He recommended greatly increased locker accommodation, storage, and that an attempt be made to eliminate the use of the laboratory as a registered classroom, among other improvements.

Dealing specifically with the punishment incident, Judge Wilson said he approached the subject in all gravity, and "with a sincere respect for the integrity, ability and scholarship of the principal—my high regard for under-appreciated and generally underpaid profession of teaching makes me particularly anxious that an incident such as the chastisement of four unruly boys shall not be allowed to mar the record of an able educator—these boys had been persistent troublemakers and deserved severe punishment. However, it is easy to imagine school pupils being guilty of much graver misdemeanors. In that case would the principal be justified in giving sixty or even 100 blows? I think not. There must be a limit, and that when the offence is of real gravity, the remedy must be dismissal, rather than excessive whipping."

Dr. Thomas, the judge found, according to the record of his actions, was emotionally disturbed.

EXTREME PROVOCATION

"I admit extreme provocation," the report said. "A schoolmaster is exposed to a lifelong series of provocations."

He said "the whole idea of corporal punishment is, I think, vastly repugnant to Dr. Thomas. He had tried to avoid the necessity for it with these boys. I think it was an effort for him to compel himself to thrash them. I think he was in a disturbed mental condition when he commenced punishment. He had great provocation. I think that the most important cause contributing to Dr. Thomas' failure to exercise proper supervision—is that he is overworked."

Reviewing the evidence of teacher associates of the principal, Judge Wilson stated: "It will be noted that the great majority of the teachers who gave evidence were loyal to Dr. Thomas. Grade IXb was a class of boys in their first year of high school. It is generally agreed that this was a 'problem class.' All teachers had trouble with it from the beginning of the term. The principal early became aware of this condition and strove to correct it by guidance, devoting much time to lecturing this class on its conduct and trying to inculcate the principles of self-discipline. The class was not responsive."

Wants Italians To Help Harvest

ALBANY, N.Y., Sept. 9 (AP).—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today requested Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army, to approve the use of "at least" 5,000 Italian prisoners of war to help harvest and process New York State crops. Dewey in a telegram to Marshall said the surrender of Italy would seem to make use of Italian prisoners of war possible in areas where need is desperate.

Albania Appeals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Constantine Cagkrezi, president of the Free Albainan organization in the United States, said today that Albania is awaiting "the approaching hour of her freedom" following the surrender of Italy. In telegrams to Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and the Soviet Embassy, Cagkrezi declared it was "not just" that Albanians be given "last hour assistance" from the principal Allied powers.

All Legitimate Hope Vanished Hitler Is Told

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—A Rome broadcast disclosed today that Premier Pietro Badoglio sent a telegram to Hitler in Berlin yesterday telling him that Italy was forced to ask the Allies for an armistice "to avoid total ruin."

"One cannot ask the people to continue to fight when all legitimate hope—I do not say of victory, but even of resistance—has vanished," Badoglio's message said.

War Production Is Summarized

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—The achievement of Canadian industrial workers in four years of war was summarized today in a production table made public by the Munitions Department.

The table, showing the current rate of production and total output during the past four years, follows:

Iran Declares War on Germany

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP). — Reuter's News Agency said in a dispatch from Teheran tonight that Iran has declared war on Germany.

Iran, formerly known as Persia, has been co-operating with the Allies for many months, permitting the use of its territory in the sending of lend-lease supplies to Russia.

The country has approximately 12,000,000 inhabitants.

National Day of Prayer Planned

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP).—Early announcement is expected naming a day of national prayer and thanksgiving for the Italian surrender, Sunday, September 12, probably will be selected. The day will be marked by special peals of bells and a broadcast service in which religious leaders will participate.

Leaves His Post

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 9 (AP).—Foreign Minister Rear Admiral Segundo R. Storni, who failed in an effort to obtain lend-lease aid from the United States for Argentina, resigned tonight. The resignation was accepted.

It was announced in Washington Tuesday night that State Secretary Cordell Hull had rejected the bid of the Government of President Pedro Ramirez for lend-lease aid on the ground that Argentina had failed to do its share in protecting the Western Hemisphere from aggression.

Pioneer Hotel Man Called by Death

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Otto Herman Fechner, formerly of Port Alberni, pioneer hotel proprietor on Vancouver Island, died here Wednesday. He owned several hotels and was in the restaurant business on the Island for some time. Latterly he was proprietor of the Riverside Hotel in Courtenay. He had been residing in Vancouver for six months. Funeral services will be held in Port Alberni.

LONDON (CP).—The Ministry of War Transport has placed orders for the building of enough steel lifeboats to equip 135 tankers.

WHEN SHALL WE CHEER?

It is difficult to understand the action taken at Ottawa this week in connection with the unconditional surrender of Italy in the war. First the Prime Minister called for bell-ringing and rejoicing about the land. Then, apparently, he countermanded that. Finally, Canadians were told in a roundabout fashion that the reason for all this "would no doubt come from overseas." But was it Mr. King's say anyway? Has Canada come to the days of the claque, the ordered demonstration, the trappings of a Nazi show? Surely not.

It is quite understandable that some people, knowing to the full the grim side of war, or having lost perhaps their loved ones in it, would not wish to take part in any public celebration; but for the majority of Canadians the case was not that. For four long years they had volunteered, worked and taxed themselves, putting every ounce of spirit they could into the fight against aggression. The unconditional surrender of the first foe to go down, Italy, had just been announced. A spontaneous wave of relief and of joy was sweeping the land, as a very human reaction. Among others, this was a Canadian victory, aided and participated in by our own men, steady, courageous and successful in the field.

What business was it of Ottawa to say whether or not the people should cheer? What were Canadians supposed to do anyway, cry? If the Prime Minister erred in seeking to dictate a celebration, he was no less at fault in barring one and prohibiting the participation of the three armed services in it. What can anyone make out of the statement that Canada, in such affairs, should take its tone and its time "from overseas?"

Psychologically, the Government was wrong. After all that had passed in forty-eight months of war, it would have not harmed people to cheer, if that was the wish of their heart. Here was a great victory; not, indeed, a total one, but a genuine step along that self-same road. Canadians had been in the van of the battle that brought it about. Our cheers would have been, first, for them. While some might have cheered with tears in their eyes, their pride would have been as great as the rest; sure in the knowledge that great sacrifice has not been, and shall not be, in vain. The opportunity was fumbled by an intervention uncalled for, as it was without political or human warrant.

GERMANS IN RETREAT

The Allied landings in the Bay of Naples, following upon Italy's complete surrender in the war, means that no time has been lost in applying the advantages of the new position to the dismissal of the remaining Germans from Italian soil. One reason for withholding the announcement of the Italian armistice for five days was, no doubt, because Allied convoys were at sea already in preparation for the new attack. The chagrin of the Germans indicates that they have been both outwitted and outmatched, and that, whatever the character of the remaining fighting in Italy, their days in the Mediterranean bowl are numbered.

By landing one-third of the way up Italy from its southern end, Allied forces have wedged off German garrisons in South Italy, and effectively prevented their concentration below that point. It remains to be seen whether the step came in time to trap the three German divisions which had fled from Sicily at the close of that campaign. British and United States troops have landed, and from a considerable armada of vessels under full sea and air protection. Some Canadian units are believed to be in the movement, which puts a bracket on the southern third of the peninsula, between Naples and the Calabrian coast.

London advices yesterday, confirming the new landings, said forty-six German planes had been shot down in a field day of Allied air support over Italy, for a loss of six Allied aircraft. That alone would indicate the progress of the action, which is now directed solely against German levies still upon Italian soil. Meanwhile, the British Eighth Army is advancing northward along the peninsula from the Messina gap. Between these two forces, whatever German troops are in the area south of Naples will not be able to stand for long. Thus, tactically at least, the Allies have taken quick steps to exploit the military success of Italy's unconditional surrender.

It remains to be seen yet what is the weight of German arms in Italy, and where a fixed stand will be offered. The annoyance of the Germans over what has taken place is proof enough that the Allies have interfered with most of the enemy's plans for a protracted defence south of the Brenner Pass. If, as present events seem to indicate, the southern third of Italy should pass quickly into Allied hands, such a concentration of air power can be assembled there that the valley of the Po could be made a very unhealthy spot for German units told off to watch the Italian gate into inner fortressed Europe. In any event, the Germans are far more likely to make a stand in the hills than in the valley, and their ability to do that will depend in large measure on what may happen within the next few days.

The surrender of Italy, however, has far wider repercussions than its immediate military significance. Nazism, patterned directly upon Fascism, has seen the latter system crumble to the earth disintegrated. They have watched the "New Order" in Europe travelling in reverse, and at a speed they have been totally unable to stop. The exuberant delight of the Italian people upon being relieved of their oppressors, the growing certainty that Germany will stand alone in the final battles in Europe, and many other factors, intangible but real, are all today sapping at morale within the Reich itself. Allied leaders have warned that stern battles lie ahead. It is the part of wisdom to believe so, but of the ultimate end there has for a long time been no real doubt.

THE TASK FROM HERE

The surrender of Italy radically alters the complexion of the war. Facing the United Nations now there are two opponents; both strong, both compromised, both incapable of quitting short of outright defeat in the field. Each, however, is isolated, and in that lies the chief advantage of the United Nations, over and above their growing production and expanding manpower. Nevertheless, this is the moment for sane realism in the war. A long and a bitter task lies ahead.

In addressing an audience of several millions of people on behalf of the United States Third Victory Loan this week, President Roosevelt avoided making any estimate of the duration of the war. He appealed, instead, to his countrymen to buckle down to the task, and to do all that lay in their power to bring victory at the earliest possible date. That, he said, was a duty owed by those on the home front to all who were serving abroad.

That was sane and prudent realism. It will pay the United Nations, and each one of them, to accept what has transpired so favorably as an earnest of the total victory to come; and to go ahead with fresh courage, new determination and selfless effort towards the end of the long, and bitter road. As Mr. Roosevelt said, not by words but by their deeds all people will be judged now. Germany and Japan, although separated, must be beaten; and as nearly concurrently as it is humanly possible to achieve. Let the enemy speculate on the duration of the war. Let us go forward with fresh and grim determination to see it through, so that not one life will have been laid down in vain. That is the task from here.

HOVER FLIGHT

Although the war has called for flying speeds, ranges and altitudes attainable only by propeller flight, the helicopter long ago passed out of the test tube and off the designer's table to become a new and highly dependable branch of aeronautics in itself. It is hover flight, known to nature before man himself arrived. For special uses, mostly still secret, the war has brought the helicopter to its highest state of performance, one in which its future is assured.

The principle behind the helicopter is a simple one. A large rotating vane, horizontal to its spindle, is capable of lifting a considerable weight when motor driven. The direction is vertically up. Changing the pitch of the vanes, or altering the angle of the spindle, permit a succession of changes in direction and all of them at the controlled speed of hover flight. A modern helicopter can be raised or lowered, taken by inches to the left or right, driven ahead or put in reverse, with equal ease and certainty.

Obviously, such a degree of control in flight casts its shadows into the future. Proved and tested today, helicopters are doing special war work. When released from that duty, they will contribute to civil aviation not only a whole new avenue of experimentation and thought, but a fully tried and tested means of travelling safely by air, especially over short distances and in congested surroundings. The formation of a local company to pioneer in the field shows that these opportunities are being recognized at their true value and worth. Hover flight is a widening field.

PARLIAMENT NAPPING

Parliament must have been napping when provisions in the Federal Unemployment Insurance scheme were amended in respect of contributions to be paid by those in receipt of a weekly salary or wage, as distinct from others paid on a monthly basis. The amended regulations treat employees in the same income group differently, and where is there a warrant for that?

At first, contributions from employed individuals towards the upkeep of the scheme were limited to those in receipt of $1,800 or less per annum. Apparently this did not produce the funds desired, so that the plan was amended and the limitation raised to $2,400 per annum. At the same time, however, a difference was made between those upon weekly payrolls and others who were not, with the result that there now appears to be no limitation at all on weekly payrolls, regardless of the income earned.

In effect, this treats the individual in receipt of say $2,500 per annum in one fashion if he is paid by the week, and in a different manner if paid by the month. In the former instance, he is a contributor to the scheme, and "insured." In the latter case he does not contribute, and is neither insured nor insurable. Now did Parliament intend to do that? Because that is what has been codified into the Federal regulations, as they are interpreted today. Such a principle could not hold in taxation, because it is discriminatory at its base. Should it hold with any other form of levy, even where there is an outright promise of a return? Earned income, surely, must be the test, not the number of pay cheques in a month.

ON FREEDOM

Tak any brid, and put it in a cage,
And do all thyn'entente and thy corage
To fostre it tendrely with mete and drinke,
Of alle deyntees that thou canst bithinke,
And keep it al so cleny as thou may;
Although his cage of gold be never so gay,
Yet hath this brid, by twenty thousand fold,
Lever in a forest, that is rude and cold,
Gon ete wormes and switch wrecchedness.
—Chaucer, in "The Maunciples Tale."

There must be inspiration back of all true and permanent art, dramatic or otherwise, and art is universal; there is nothing national about it. Its field is humanity, and it takes in all the world, nor does anything else afford the refuge that is provided by it from all troubles and all vicissitudes of life.—William Winter.

There is no contending with necessity, and we should be very tender how we censure those that submit to it. It is one thing to be at liberty to do what we will, and another thing to be tied up to do what we must.—L'Estrange.

Like a morning's dream, life becomes more and more bright the longer we live, and the reason of everything appears more clear. What has puzzled us before seems less mysterious, and the crooked paths look straighter as we approach the end.—Richter.

Almost every one takes pleasure in repaying small favors, and many people are grateful also for moderate ones, but hardly anyone fails to show ingratitude for great ones.—La Rochefoucauld.

If those who are the enemies of innocent amusements had the direction of the world, they would take away the Spring and youth, the former from the year, the latter from human life.—Balzac

Forced Out

FRANK M. KELLEY

The shape of things to come was rapidly taking form across the Pacific as Japan during the Winter months of 1940-41. In the Summer months of the former year agents of various active organizations had been very successful stirring up ill-feeling against British and American citizens residing in Japan, and especially against the first-named group. The Japanese press was particularly diligent in what apparently was a well-planned campaign to make life unpleasant for nationals of Britain, the country persistently charged with being the cause of the successful resistance China was putting up against Japan's armies.

Americans were feared as much and probably more than the British; but it was evidently the policy of the men in the background who prepared the propaganda poison to have the Japanese people show some friendliness to the United States, while the diplomats played their game at Washington in the hope that the advocates of isolationism and the anti-administrationists in America would become strong enough to prevent any concerted action by Great Britain and the United States in the Orient, at least before Japan was ready to take advantage of the European war and the opportunity offered to seize new territory in the Pacific.

Widely spread by the Japanese press, this propaganda has its effects. It was responsible for a good deal of feeling against British interests. Organized groups paraded the streets displaying anti-British banners. Demonstrations were made in front of the British Embassy in Tokio and consulates in other centres. Many indignities were suffered by individual British and United States residents. Travelers arriving from Yokohama in those days had stories to tell of what men and women of their kind had been subjected to in Japan, and wondered how long it was going to be before action more forceful than verbal or written protests would result.

SUPPORTED BY THE GOVERNMENT

Petty may be at the outset, this enmity grew, as its initiators intended it should. It led to crystalized action. Organizations mushroomed for the purpose of purging the country from all foreign influences. Unable to do more at the time than have British and Americans insulted and life made as disagreeable as possible for them, the Japanese organizations were encouraged to do away with foreign influences of a religious character. A way was readily found and it was supported by the Government.

Evidences of success were not wanting late in 1940 and early in 1941. For several months there were not many passenger ships arriving on this coast from Japan that did not bring representatives of Western church and school institutions, many of them charged with being spies, who had been forbidden to carry on their preachings and teaching in Japan. Church properties, which had been paid for largely by funds raised in Europe and America, were taken over, as well as the direction of all schools connected with the churches, while the Bible was abolished, because, it was so stated, "its doctrines were considered detrimental to Japanese morals."

Principal movers in the efforts to get the churchmen and teachers out of the country were the National Christian Council of Japan, which proclaimed that it was going to set up "a new Christian structure," and the Christian Educational Association. In the new Christian structure Christianity was to "conform to the spirit of the times" and a "new and truly Japanese type of Christianity will be born and all financial aid from America and Europe will be rejected," it was declared.

Starting the new "structure," the Japanese type of Christianity planned the amalgamation of all Christian churches; the preachers and teachers were to be all Japanese, with the tenets of the new "Bible" to be on a purely Japanese pattern in keeping with the spirit of the times.

At that particular time there were some thirty Christian sects in Japan, adherents numbering approximately 310,000. The largest group was Roman Catholic. Other important groups were Presbyterians, Salvationists, Episcopalians, Methodists and Congregationalists. Schools numbered sixty-six, including universities. These were affiliated with Christian churches and missions.

INTRODUCED BY FRANCIS XAVIER

The history of the Christian religion in Japan began about 1549. Introduced there, it is said, by Francis Xavier, the life of the missionaries could hardly be designated a bed of roses. They managed to survive until 1638. What is known as the Sentara Revolt against the missionaries began in 1637 and ended the following year when strict measures were taken by the Tokugawa Shogunate were responsible for doing away with all traces of Christianity in Japan. It was two centuries later before Catholic missionaries again sought to gain converts in Japan. Some remained until 1941, when the foreign leaders had to retire.

Protestant missionaries first reached Japan in 1859. They landed just six years after Commodore Perry had been instrumental in opening Japanese ports to foreign trade. They met with many obstacles, the people being forbidden to have anything to do with them. It was not until the Meiji Restoration in 1868, and the withdrawal of old edicts prohibiting Christianity in 1872, that Japan was officially opened to Christian teaching. Promulgation of the Japanese Constitution in 1889 definitely granted freedom of worship throughout Japan.

Observation Car

By G.B.

From a small Norwegian coastal village comes the story of two Nazi army corporals who discovered a cache of forbidden liquor while searching a warehouse, spent an afternoon bending their elbows, and at nightfall stole a truck for a joy-ride. Finally they zig-zagged along an unlighted wharf and plunged into the sea where both were drowned. Ten minutes later a report of the tragedy reached a captain in charge of the garrison, and he set out with several under-officials to investigate. Before long the captain encountered an old fisherman who lived near the wharf. "Didn't you see the truck coming?" he bellowed. "Yes, of course," the fisherman replied. "Then why didn't you try to stop it?" the captain shouted, brandishing a revolver in the old man's face. "Why should I?" the fisherman responded. "I took it for granted the men were on their way to England" . . . Bill, the Broad Street barber, felt particularly suffused with patriotism yesterday morning when he parted with $5 for more war savings stamps. "You know," he remarked to the boss, "I wish I were a bit younger. I might even think of joining the R.C.A.F." The boss laughed, but made no reply, hoping that Bill would dry up and get on with his work. Bill was not to be silenced. "My uncle fought with distinction in the first Great War," he resumed. "My grandfather served during the Boer War, and my great-grandfather commanded a regiment in the Zulu war." Bill proudly related. "On which side?" the boss inquired without a smile . . . When a British Mosquito bomber blasted a war plant in the Danish town of Skive, Goebbels is reported to have issued a communique stating that no damage was done, except that a cow had been hit. The town's only newspaper dutifully carried the official statement with the remark. "The cow burned four days" . . . Statistics show that one-third of all household accidents occur in kitchens. And they are placed on the dining-room table just as if they had not happened . . . Now the prayer of the Italians has at last been answered. They used to say "We know we will lose the war, but when?"

FINED FOR INFRACTIONS

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP)—Fines up to $300 were imposed on seven retailers and consumers for infractions of rationing regulations during the week ended September 3, the enforcement administration of the Prices Board reported today.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From The Daily Colonist of September 10, 1918)

To Clean Victoria Streets by Machine—If a recommendation from the streets committee is accepted by the City Council, Victoria will soon have the most modern street-sweeping equipment in all Canada. After City Engineer Frank M. Preston had presented a statement to show the all-round efficiency of the machine and the fact that its use should cut in half the cost of other methods, the committee passed a resolution favoring the purchase of an Elgin sweeper. The committee recommended that the machine could be bought on trial if the option price of $8,350, freight and duty paid, is permitted to stand, today being the original date of expiration.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

May Give Reduced Rate—It is stated if there are any considerable number of Victoria people going over to Seattle to witness the performance of Henry Irving and Ellen Terry, the Northern Pacific Company may give a reduced rate. The matter is now being taken up, and an effort will be made to get a large party of Victorians to go over.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From The Daily British Colonist of September 15, 1868)

Cable Resurrection—The steamer Diana returned yesterday with the remains of the submarine telegraph cable laid two years since between this and San Juan Island. Its recovery occupied twenty-four hours' continuous labor with a patent capstan, loaned for the occasion by our friend McQuade. Most of the cable was found to be sound and ready for future service should occasion require.

INVASION POINTS

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 100 words in length.

MUSICAL ART SOCIETY

Sir,—May I, through your paper, bring to the attention of the Victoria public the activities and aims of the Victoria Musical Art Society?

This society is the only musical organization whose aim is primarily to encourage and financially assist the young musicians of our city, many of whom are most worthy of our assistance.

Our intermediate and juvenile groups are both flourishing and enthusiastic, and on the occasions when they have been presented by the senior society were most heartily applauded, both for their sincerity and artistry. The intermediate group has for the past four years given generously of its time for the entertainment of the armed forces.

This past year the society has carried on under great difficulties owing to the stress of our present life, but the cultural forces of art and music have been actively kept alive, a no small task in these busy days. The membership fee is modest, and a very enjoyable season has been arranged.

The Canadian tenor, Leonard Hayman, will appear during the forthcoming season, and for the opening concert, to be given on October 20 in the Empress Hotel ballroom, the society will present "The Cavaliers," with Clement C. Williams. MRS. H. F. LASENBY.

Alternate Board Chairman Named

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP)—Graham F. Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada and chairman of the Foreign Exchange Board, today announced appointment of Louis Rasminsky as alternate board chairman.

Mr. Towers said the extra calls on his own time arising from his duties as general chairman of the National War Finance Committee made the appointment desirable.

Mr. Rasminsky, recently appointed executive assistant to the governors of the Bank of Canada, has been chairman of the management committee of the Foreign Exchange Board since June, 1942, and will continue to act in that capacity.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any time, add 36 feet to the height at high water as above given.

Submits Brief On Conditions In the Yukon

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP)—The Vancouver Labor Council has submitted a brief to the Western Labor Board at Edmonton, asking elimination of present conditions in the Yukon Territory whereby Canadian workmen are "compelled to engage in equally important jobs at wage rates which are in some cases 33 per cent lower than those paid imported United States workmen."

Noting that American contractors are willing and eager to employ Canadian workmen at the same wage rates obtaining for Americans, but are unable to do so because of a Canada-United States agreement, the brief proposed:

1. That all United States contracting firms engaged in construction work in Canadian territory be given the right to employ Canadian labor at rates of pay equal to those paid American workers.

2. That strict control be exercised over the influx of labor into Yukon Territory, to the end that residents of the territory, and others already in the region, be employed before more labor is recruited from outside.

"In the extensive war projects now under construction in the territory," the brief said, "Canadian contractors have been displaced by larger and better equipped American contractor organizations. It is without precedent in the annals of any civilized country that citizens and taxpayers of a country are constrained by order of their own Government to work within their own country at wage rates lower than those locally established for foreigners or aliens."

The brief listed a number of categories with comparative rates, including Canadian truck drivers at eighty-five cents an hour while Americans received $1.20 for the same work. Canadian shovel operators were paid $1.35 per hour and Americans $2.

MADE GOOD HAUL

ASTORIA, Ore., Sept. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Wilbert Bjork landed a thirty-pound salmon. The fish had been hooked before. Attached was another rod, complete with line and gear.

Teachers Undecided

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Which trade union the B.C. Teachers' Federation will affiliate with will not be revealed for another month, C. J. Oates, chairman of the federation's trade union affiliation committee, said today.

At the April convention, provincial teachers voted to affiliate with some major trade union group, but left it up to the executive committee to decide which. The result will not be made public until the next meeting of the 1943-44 executive, sometime in October.

Immense Area Swarming With Invasion Fleet

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 9 (CP)—Back from a flight over the Naples district, a Canadian flyer said today "the whole area of approximately 1,000 square miles was swarming with an invasion fleet."

P.O. John Anthony Vasicek, twenty-year-old Spitfire pilot from Chatham, Ont., brought back the first eyewitness account of the Allied landings. He flew over the region on his way to a reconnaissance mission shortly after dawn.

"Through the haze I suddenly saw what at first appeared to be a moderately large amount of shipping," he said. "Then as I got closed to the bay I got a more accurate picture and realized the whole area of approximately 1,000 square miles was swarming with an invasion fleet."

Jumped to His Death From Moving Train

SALMON ARM, B.C., Sept. 9 (CP).—Funeral services were held yesterday for Arthur Nelson, sixteen, who died in hospital Monday from injuries received the previous night when he jumped from the tender of a westbound C.P.R. passenger train while it was still in motion.

The youth was returning with some other boys from Canoe, a settlement six miles east of here. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Besides his parents, Sgt. and Mrs. W. Nelson, there are a sister and brother.

According to Culbertson - - - -

One of the best arguments against the promiscuous use of artificial club bids is that the very players who are so fond of this device are the least skilful in "handling" it. Let me elucidate this point by means of the following typical deal:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q 9 7
♥ 10 3 2
♦ 9
♣ A 10 8 7 5 4

WEST	EAST
♠ 4 3 2	♠ A J 10 5
♥ Q 9 7	♥ 6 5 4
♦ K 10 8 5 3 2	♦ A 7 6
♣ Q	♣ K 3 2

SOUTH
♠ K 8 6
♥ A K J 8
♦ Q J 4
♣ J 9 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

East's penalty double of three no trump was far from sound, but as East later put it, "he knew his customers." Specifically, he knew that South was in the habit of opening with one club whenever he could scare up anything like the requirements, and East hoped that this time South had again been following his normal tactics.

It is not with East's double, however, that we are primarily concerned, except to record the fact that it enhanced the penalty from 300 to 800 points when South went down three tricks at his optimistic contract. It is South's highly inconsistent bidding which should be brought under the microscope.

Presumably South did not think well enough of his hand to open with one no trump, yet having received only a weak single club raise from North, he suddenly began to look upon his cards with such favor that he bid two no trump and thereby strongly invited a raise to game from partner. There was nothing inherently wrong with the club bid; as a matter of fact, it was perhaps the best "prepared" opening in that South would be able to make a minimum rebid if North made a forcing response of one spade, one heart, or one diamond. The trouble was that South did not know how to follow up his own initial selection. When North could do no more than raise to two clubs, it should have become obvious that no safe game contract could be reached. South probably realized that, but at the same time he was probably panicked at the thought of staying in a club contract with only three clubs in his own hand. Hence his frantic and futile effort to get out. What he overlooked was that North, being only human, would not possibly be able to read that the two no trump was a mere "readjustment effort". North would and did read it as an announcement that South, despite North's comparative weakness, was still anxious to reach game.

As between transmitting this highly inaccurate message and accepting a contract (two clubs) that had not even been doubled and which presumably would be safe enough despite South's short trump suit, it is, I think, self-evident that South made a bad decision. He should passed to two clubs.

Regulations Established For Herring Fisheries

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—The Government, by order in council, has established regulations to govern Pacific herring production, "to safeguard the supply of canned herring and of edible herring meal and oil manufactured from herring in wartime.

"No person shall throw overboard, dump, jettison, waste or destroy herring caught or taken in any of the waters of or adjacent to British Columbia," says the order, published today in Canadian War Orders and Regulations.

"No person shall can herring or manufacture or convert herring into oil, meal or fertilizer unless such person has registered with the Minister of Fisheries.

"No person shall, except with permission of the minister, can herring otherwise than in tomato sauce."

Herring caught in the lower East or Quathiaski subdistricts may not be converted into oil, meal or fertilizer, but herring waste may be used for these purposes.

Canners must produce not less than twenty cases, each comprising forty-eight one-pound tins, from each ton of herring. If the catch seems likely to exceed the capacity of canning plants, fishing may be prohibited or placed under special regulations to prevent wastage.

Contravention of the regulations is subject to fine not exceeding $500. Fishing equipment is liable to forfeiture, and fishing licences may be cancelled.

"I'm going to kiss you before I go," said the young man who had outstayed his welcome.

"Do it now while I'm still young," replied the girl wearily.

Plant Changes Recommended by Dobson Reports

Certain changes and improvements in connection with plant equipment, working conditions and associated problems, were recommended in the reports of the Dobson committees on the Victoria and Vancouver shipyards received recently by the Federal Department of Labor.

The shipbuilders have agreed to make the changes and improvements recommended.

These committees were appointed by the Royal Commission headed by Mr. Justice Richards of the Manitoba Court of Appeal which inquired into factors impeding production in the shipyards in the Vancouver and Victoria districts and investigated means of securing maximum production in these shipyards.

The Vancouver committee was composed of: N. Dobson, chairman; J. A. McCarthy, machinist, representing Metal Trades Council; R. Johnson, chargehand rivetter, representing C.C.L.; A. Tolmie, chargehand shipwright, representing C.F. of L.; W. D. McLaren and H. Wallace, representing employers.

The Victoria committee was composed of: N. Dobson, chairman; J. McKinley, representing Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders, (C.C.L.); W. Caird, representing the A.F. of L.; J. Walker, representing the Canadian Federation of Labor; H. S. Hammill, representing the management of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., and E. W. Izard, representing the management of Yarrows Ltd.

In a letter of appreciation to the chairman of these committees, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, stated that "the services rendered by yourself and the members of your committees are most sincerely appreciated by both Government and the shipbuilding industry, and should increase the momentum of Canada's national effort through the speeding up of our production of ships for war."

Decorations for Airmen Awarded

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Wing Cmdr. John E. Fauquier, D.F.C., Ottawa, commanding officer of one of Canada's leading bomber squadrons overseas, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Order "in recognition of his outstanding record as a pilot and leader," it was announced today by Air Force Headquarters.

The citation covering the award was not released.

At the same time it was announced the Conspicuous Gallantry Medal, highest flying award made to non-commissioned officers, has been awarded to Sgt. J. C. Bailey, of Vancouver, and that the D.F.C. has been awarded posthumously to F/O. G. N. Keith, whose mother, Mrs. Harry Bland, lives at Tabor, Alta.

Victoria Airmen Receive Pilots' Wings in R.C.A.F.

Tributary Highways To Be Considered

WINNIPEG, Sept. 9 (CP).—A post-war plan of road construction to provide tributary highways to link with the Alaska Highway will be considered at a meeting of the Alaska Highway Association in Regina tomorrow, it was learned here today.

Hon. Errick F. Willis, Minister of Public Works for Manitoba, and E. C. Gilliat, secretary of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, Manitoba delegates at the meeting, left today.

Under a proposed plan, the three Governments of the Prairie Provinces would share expense of constructing feeder links to the Alaska Highway, which is expected to be one of the most traveled roads in America after the war.

So far as Manitoba is concerned, paving of the Trans-Canada Highway west from Brandon to the Saskatchewan border is likely to be one of the first pieces of work undertaken.

Another likely project in Saskatchewan is the paving of the highway from Saskatoon to link up with the Manitoba highway northwest from Dauphin.

Freight Handlers Out on Strike

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Sept. 9 (CP).—Approximately 550 freight handlers in the lakehead cities of Fort William and Port Arthur are on strike today, demanding higher wages.

The strike was called at midnight when work was halted at the dock. Three package freighters were tied up today because of lack of men to handle the freight.

The men demand a ten cent per hour increase in day wage rates and a twenty-five cent increase in the night rate.

The men are members of Twin City Lodge, No. 408, International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (A.F.L.).

The workers on strike in Port William number 320 with another 180 in Port Arthur.

An application for increased wages was placed before the War Labor Board last April, but no action was taken, union officials said, and the strike was ordered.

Escape Unhurt at Nanaimo When Car Is Hit by Train

NANAIMO, Sept. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. M. Whalley, of Gabriola Island, escaped with only minor scratches and slight shock when their automobile, driven by Mr. Whalley, was struck on a rear wheel by a northbound Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway passenger train at the Comox Road crossing here this afternoon.

The automobile was hurled free of the track and spun completely around, with tires torn from both rear wheels. There was considerable other damage.

Aircraft Carriers Most Potent Weapons

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 9 (AP).—James V. Forrestal, under-secretary of the navy, today described aircraft carriers as one of the United States most potent weapons for striking at the heart of Japan and said that by the year's end there would be more than fourteen first-line carriers with the fleet.

"This does not include the small converted merchant ship carriers which have already rendered distinguished service in combatting the U-boats in the Atlantic," Forrestal told a War Bond campaign luncheon here.

Another Six Ships Lost by Japanese

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Six more Japanese merchant ships have been sunk by American submarines and four have been damaged in attacks on enemy supply lines, the United States Navy Department announced today.

These ten successful attacks raised to 319 the total of Japanese transport, cargo and warships which have been reported sunk or damaged by American submarines since the United States entered the war.

This total includes 223 ships definitely listed as sunk.

THE SALMON PACK

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—British Columbia's canned salmon pack up to September 4 totaled 824,423 cases, compared with 869,035 at the same time last year, the chief supervisor of fisheries reported today. Of this 465,576 cases were pinks.

The average soldier or sailor eats about five and one-half pounds of food daily.

Coffee Drinkers Must Be Patient

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Coffee will not be removed from the ration list until it is possible to remove tea also, Finance Minister Ilsley has advised the Consumers' Council here.

Mr. Ilsley said Canada is in the unique position of drinking equal quantities of tea and coffee, and the increased demand would overstrain shipping facilities.

Postoffice Prepared for Jumble Sale

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Postoffice officials have sorted and packed a great accummulation of corsets and cutlery, cigarettes and cosmetics, silk stockings and best sellers in preparation for the sale of "dead letter parcels."

The sale is held every two years, after every bit of ingenuity has been used in attempting to locate either the person to whom the parcel was addressed or the sender.

Officials who sorted materials to be sold said the accummulation was sufficient to start a lingerie shop, equip several automobiles apart from the heaviest equipment, supply a kitchen or two with all the hardware needed and keep a tobacco store in cigarettes for a considerable period.

The money from the sale goes to the Receiver-General of Canada in the same way as cash and money orders from letters whose owners cannot be traced.

"We've had everything from a small ship anchor to a safety pin," said one official. "We've had the occasional dead animal—and an imitation mink coat. Cosmetics of every kind have been found, with razors, fountain pens, food of all kinds, every variety of tobacco, skis, skates, hairpins, manicure sets and pills and tonics in immense array."

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP).—The loss of the British destroyer Puckeridge was announced tonight by the Admiralty, which did not say whether the vessel was sunk by enemy action or when and where the loss occurred.

FOR HOME-CONVERSION

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Provision of $1,000,000 to extend the Government's home-conversion plan to Hamilton, St. Catharines and Brantford, Ont., Montreal and Quebec areas and permit additional expenditures in Ottawa was announced today. Expenditures are to convert suitable buildings into multiple housing units.

Henry Owen Williams, eighty-seven, director of contracts for the munitions ministry during he First Great War, died recently at Harpenden, Hertford. He entered the War Office in 1875.

Duncan Council Improves Drainage

DUNCAN, Sept. 9.—At a meeting of the City Council, the streets committee reported an agreement with the E. & N. Railway for the placing of a new low level culvert across the railway right of way at Forth Street, to provide for better drainage of surface water from city streets. The committee will engage an engineer to prepare plans for the disposal of surface drainage in Duncan West End.

A vote of thanks was passed to C. W. O'Neill, chairman, and Mrs. E. W. Waldie, secretary, of the Chinese War Relief Fund. The collections in Duncan more than doubled the objective, and was second on the Island only to Victoria, while collections per capita were the largest in the province.

Mayor Savage and Alderman Greig were appointed a committee to deal locally with business permits under Wartime Prices and Trades regulations.

A complaint regarding the condition of Kenneth Street was referred to the committee, while another from a taxpayer complaining of an increase in trade licence fees, was not entertained.

OLD-TIME METHODS

TEHERAN, Sept. 8 (AP).—The first overseas weekly edition of The New York Times was distributed today to United States Army post exchanges. Plastic edition plates were flown from the United States and immediately bolted to an ancient flat-bed press, the only available printing unit in this country. The paper was run off in forty-eight hours and was immediately distributed without charge throughout the command.

VICTORY FAIR APRON STALL

Mrs. J. E. Harker, convener of the apron stall for the I.O.D.E. Victory Fair to be held at the Crystal Garden on Monday, September 13, held a meeting at headquarters on Thursday afternoon when over 300 aprons were turned in by the members.

ESQUIMALT COMMUNITY CLUB

The Esquimalt Community Club will hold a special meeting on Tuesday at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. Ross, Esquimalt Road. Arrangements will be completed for the tag day which is being held on Saturday, October 2, in Esquimalt.

St. Mary's Senior W.A. Hears Need for Missionary Work

St. Mary's Senior Afternoon Branch of the W.A. met in the parish hall on Thursday afternoon, the president, Mrs. A. A. Bengough, in the chair. Following prayers by the president, the devotional reading was given by Mrs. H. A. Barnett. The president, in welcoming the members, mentioned the great need for missionary work today.

Four new members were welcomed to the meeting, Mrs. M. York, Mrs. Owen Smith, Miss E. M. Mason and Mrs. S. A. Francis; also a visitor from New Jersey, Mrs. Hovendon, who is a W.A. member.

The treasurer, Mrs. E. Stewart, reported the following paid to the Dominion treasurer: United Pledge Fund, $150; fees, $25.80; Columbia Coast Mission, $2; Anglican Theological Bursary Fund, $2.50, and Dorcas, $25.

The junior secretary, Mrs. H. C. Corbett, announced that some of the members had won certificates of honorable mention in the Dominion W.A. study competition. The members were thanked for their help in making the junior tea such a success.

Mrs. H. A. Barnett announced that the quilt donated by her to the W.A. had been sold and the proceeds given to the Chinese Relief Fund.

The Dorcas secretary, Mrs. J. E. MacRae, reported a quilt given to the W.A. by Mrs. W. J. Goepel; also many articles of clothing for the Prairie bales which had been made during the Summer by Mrs. H. A. Barnett and Mrs. MacRae.

Little Helpers' secretary, Mrs. E. J. Harris, asked the members to report any new children who had moved to their district.

Following the business, the speaker for the afternoon was Miss M. E. Rathbone, who spoke on church work among the Indians and Eskimos. There were nineteen Indian residential schools to which the church contributed $30 per pupil. The influence of good Christian education is now being felt and already a number of the Indian students are training as teachers, nurses and theological students, the speaker said.

It was announced that the president, Mrs. A. A. Bengough, is to attend the Dominion annual meeting of the W.A. as a delegate.

Saanich Exhibits Recall Old Days

A reminder of the old pioneer days was the exhibits shown at the Saanich Fair on Labor Day by Mrs. W. D. Michell, of needlework done by her mother, Mrs. William Turgoose, later Mrs. E. Sadler. Mrs. Turgoose was a consistent prize winner at the early fairs, and was noted throughout the countryside for her hand made linen shirts.

The articles exhibited have been the subect of much comment for their exquisite needlework. Mrs. I. M. Abbott, 1530 Pandora Street, who has acted as judge in this section for the past twenty-five years, commented on this wonderful exhibit of such fine sewing. The articles consisted of man's linen shirt, hand tucked and all made by hand over sixty years ago. A nightgown made in 1864, buttonholed all down the front, and a pair of embroidered pillow slips, which were made by one of her daughters.

Also shown by Mrs. W. D. Michell were three medals won by her father, William Turgoose, being awards for livestock shown at some of the first fairs held in Victoria. Several prize show cards were also on display. Mr. Turgoose was one of the early Saanich farmers who founded the Saanich Agricultural Society in 1868. His son, the late Fred Turgoose, acted as honorary secretary for many years and later as a director.

Each generation has produced prominent exhibitors and prize winners, and today the family is well represented on the directorate of the society, and doing yeoman service.

MISS ROSANNA GILLESPIE

WHO has presented the doll's house, shown in the above picture, to the Major J. Hebden Gillespie Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the Victory Fair to be held at the Crystal Garden on September 13. Miss Gillespie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gillespie, "The Leasowes," Fairfield Road, made and entirely furnished the little house herself, the work being completed during the past two months. There are window boxes at each window, the dining-room furniture is hand painted, and the remaining rooms are most adequately supplied. Miss Gillespie has been an active V.A.D. for the past three years at St. Anne de Bellevue Military Hospital, and latterly at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

"I'm a Hollywood Veteran," Insists Anne Shirley

By ANNE SHIRLEY
North American Newspaper Alliance

HOLLYWOOD.—It's about time columnists stopped referring to me as "one of the younger set." After all, I'm a Hollywood veteran. I've been around this town for nigh on twenty-two years, which is long enough to grow a fine set of whiskers.

I can remember when the Montmarte was the place to go. I can remember when people fainted at the corner of Hollywood and Vine when Mary Pickford went by. I can remember when there was shade on Hollywood Boulevard and Peter the Hermit kicked up dust with his bare feet. Yet every time a social note concerning me appears, it says: "Miss Shirley, one of Hollywood's younger set, was out there toasting marshmallows."

I've grown up. I'm out of the little-sister class. I'm twenty-four years old and my daughter is almost three, and I'd like to be spoken of as "that young matron."

MOTHER IS TWENTY-FOUR, DAUGHTER NEARLY THREE

It has taken me quite a while to come of age. For years—I faced my first camera at the age of three—producers and directors insisted I should wear pigtails. That was fine when I was in my 'tens. But when I passed the twenty mark I began to feel a little silly playing jump rope in long dimity dresses. I figured I had outgrown hair ribbons.

I thought it would be simple to grow up on the screen. It wasn't. I'd come up for a part and the director would say: "We need someone sophisticated, Anne. You're not the type. Is she the type, George?" and George, or Bill, or Henry would shake his head. "But she would be wonderful in a remake of Anne of Green Gables."

YOUR PAST RULES YOU

You can't blame them. Hollywood is a place where you're judged by your past. Casting officials remembered me as the little girl with the golden curls named Dawn O'Day. Directors remembered me as the poor little sister who was always being left out of things. Producers remembered me as the youngster who had a hopeless yen for the guy who was courting her widowed mother.

Well, finally I thought I had them convinced. I got a sophisticated part in "Powers Girl" and thought that was it. But the next thing I knew I found they were using another girl's legs and calling them mine. They couldn't believe I had good legs because most of my acting life had been spent in long dresses. I was incensed. I decided to sue. People said it was a publicity stunt, so I changed my mind.

Along came "Bombardier." I was assured it was a sophisticated part. It was to a point. Two men loved me. But what happened. Both went away and there I was back home weeping for them. So I went upstairs and complained.

YEARNS FOR COMEDY

"Do you think you could be a comedienne?" I was asked. I said of course I could. So they sent me down to see Dudley Nichols who was casting "Government Girl."

"Well—" said Nichols—"Well—"

"I want to try out for the part of Olivia de Havilland's room mate," I said, "the telephone operator."

"She's hard boiled," said Nichols "She's a tough little wench. Now you—"

"Don't you see I've grown up?" I asked him. "Don't you see I'm no longer one of the Hollywood younger set. I'm a changed woman."

I got the part. I hope I get more like it. And maybe after "Government Girl" is released I'll be typed as a tough telephone operator. I won't mind. At least, I'll never have to wear another hair ribbon.

Seven hundred thousand people lost their clothing books and asked for new ones in the first year of clothes rationing.

Weddings

SPEED—STEPHEN

Rev. A. E. Whitehouse officiated at the marriage of Mrs. Maude E. Stephen, daughter of Mr. John Lusse, Blenkinsop Road, and the late Mrs. Lusse and James E. Speed, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Speed, at a pretty home wedding at 2715 Blackwood Road on the evening of September 4 amid a profusion of flowers. The wedding march was played by twelve-year old Deenie Lusse, niece of the bride, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Allison sang very sweetly "Because." Given in marriage by L.S.A. Alfred Keddy, R.C.N.V.R. the bride chose a floor-length navy nice sheer, with which she wore a corsage bouquet of white gardenias. Attending the bride was Mrs. Edward Harper, who wore a gold blouse and long black skirt. Her corsage bouquet was composed of pink carnations and heather. Mr. Oliver Speed, brother of the groom, was groomsman. Guests were received by Mrs. M. Rice and Mrs. R. Simms, ably assisted by Mrs. Hilda Brown. The two-tier weding cake centred the table, which was covered by a lace cloth and decorated with carnations and sweetheart roses, and lighted by candles in silver sconces. Mr. and Mrs. Speed will reside at 2715 Blackwood Avenue.

Guild to Redecorate Seamen's Institute

The Ladies' Guild to the Connaught Seamen's Institute has undertaken to have the interior of the home redecorated and thoroughly housecleaned and the billiard table put in better shape, it was reported following a meeting of the guild held at the institute on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Vernon Thomson presiding.

Registrations at the institute for the months of June, July and August were 384, 306 and 324 men, respectively, and beds occupied over the same period were sixty-six, eighty-four and sixty-eight. It was also reported that ships were visited and the visiting seamen were entertained at the home and received gifts of woolens and other necessary articles.

It was disclosed by the treasurer that the final figures of the tag day amounted to $1,375. A standing vote of thanks was passed to the able convener, Mrs. F. Mackenzie, for "her splendid work in connection with this event and her continued interest in the welfare of the institute."

The wool convener, Miss D. Trafford, reported that a number of knitted articles were turned in during the Summer recess and acknowledged a gift of a pair of sea-boot stockings from the Kipling Society. The sum of $25 was voted towards the purchasing of ditty bags.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Esquimalt United Church will hold the annual harvest supper on Tuesday, September 14, at 6:30 p.m., in the basement of the church, to be followed by a musical programme.

First United Spiritualist

Under the auspices of the First United Spiritualist Church a social get-together, celebrating the amalgamation of the First Spiritualist Church, and the Mission of Alexis will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Victoria Women's Institute Rooms, 635 Fort Street. An attractive programme has been arranged and refreshments will be served.

Langford Guild

Plans for the annual Christmas sale of work to be held December 1 were discussed at the meeting of St. Matthews' Women's Guild on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. P. N. Welch, Langford. It was announced that the Sunday School will be held at 3 p.m. instead of in the mornings as heretofore. Mrs. H. A. Hincks presided at the meeting, and the secretary reported that the recent garden party had been very successful.

Aged and Infirm Women's Home

Mrs. W. L. Clay, president, was in the chair at the meeting of Aged and Infirm Women's Home, held Thursday afternoon at the home. It was reported there is a long list of applicants awaiting entry into the home, and the lack of accommodation is a great problem to the committee, it was said. All bills were ordered paid, and the committee for the month includes Mrs. F. W. Vincent, convener, and Mrs. F. Ellis and Mrs. D. Scott.

W.A. to Air Services

Mrs. Winnifred E. Rayfuse, manager of the National Housing Registry, Government Street, addressed the members of the W.A. to the Air Services meeting on Thursday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A., Mrs. Lorne Campbell, the president, in the chair. The problems of housing were discussed by Mrs. Rayfuse, who said at the present time in Victoria accommodation must be found for 1,700 persons. She appealed to the members for volunteer help at the registry and as inspectors of accommodation offered by citizens. It was decided during the business meeting to send Christmas parcels to R.C.A.F. personnel stationed at isolated areas on this coast, instead of overseas as formerly. At the close of the meeting tea was served by the executive.

Rockland Park W.C.T.U.

Rockland Park W.C.T.U. met recently at the home of Mrs. O. Booth, Colquitz Avenue, Mrs. Twamley and Mrs. Pettigrew conducting the devotional period. Visitors from Alberta were welcomed. Mrs. Michael paid tribute to the work of Mrs. M. I. Holland, a valued member of the W.C.T.U. for many years, who passed away last week. Letters of sympathy will be sent to her family. Delegates were elected to attend the sixtieth annual convention of the order in British Columbia, which will take place next week in Vancouver. Plans were laid for the children's work, the Little White Ribboners under the leadership of Mrs. N. Phillips. The annual Sunday school study course was discussed, the junior lessons this year being in the form of "Silhouettes" for the television play. The senior lessons are on the use and abuse of "ads." The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. McInnes. Mrs. Bert James assisted the hostess in serving tea.

Y.W.C.A. Clubs Prepare for an Active Season

During the months of September and October Victoria girls who would like to belong to Y.W.C.A. clubs will have many stimulating interest groups, it was reported by an official Thursday afternoon in the course of an interview.

On Tuesday evenings (between September 21 and October 19) three groups will be organized. Under hobbycrafts Miss Marjorie Hill will teach the making of gloves, Miss Minnie Beveridge will direct the creation of attractive remake accessories, including small hats and matching bags, and Mrs. W. W. Leach will assist group members with original ideas in home decorations. A choral club will be under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Wilson, and will prepare musical programmes for special events during the year. Another interest group will be considering "Y. Leadership," including Y.W.C.A. national and world-wide organization, programme resources, social recreation, the psychology individuals and group work, and the all-important qualifications for leadership. Mrs. Margaret Ryan Robertson, of the Vancouver Y.W.C.A. staff, and Mr. Gordon Hearn, of the Vancouver Y.M.C.A. staff, will both assist with this course.

Thursdays (between September 30 and October 21) will include groups on war service projects, featuring the making of toys for the British and refugee children, and parcels for the Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund. In the group for "Brides and Brides-to-Be," how to make housekeeping fun will be the subject under which many novel and practical household hints will be discussed with Mrs. A. B. Young. Also on Thursday evenings there will be a series of discussions on the important current topic of how young people may prepare to take their place in the new world after the war. Miss Mabel Cameron will lead on the subject of economic security, Mrs. A. Sullivan on social and home adjustments, Miss Margaret Clay on citizenship at home and abroad, and Mrs. O. A. Butters will lead the discussion on Christianity as a way of living.

At 7:45 each Tuesday and Thursday evenings there will be an informal half-hour when the various clubs, in turn, will be hostesses to all members of interest groups, and at 8:15 the groups will assemble in their respective rooms.

Registrations for interest groups may be made at the Y.W.C.A., where folders with complete details will be in readiness.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Office of War Information reported today that American shipyards have delivered more than 20,000,000 tons of merchant vessels since the United States entered the war. The O.W.I. said: "We are now delivering ships several times faster than the enemy is sinking them."

B.C. Wrens Smile Happily at a British Port

HAPPIEST girls in the navy today are a group of young Canadian Wrens—the first group to be drafted overseas—who recently arrived at a British port for duty at a Royal Canadian Navy base somewhere in England. Hailing from all parts of the Dominion, they were full of excitement at boarding a huge troopship before leaving from an Eastern Canadian port. For most of them it was their first peek at an ocean liner—and their first sight of the sea. Four British Columbia girls were among the draft. Here they pose for the photographer aboard ship. They are, left to right: Sub-Lieut. Margaret Mackie, of Victoria, officer in charge; Wren Doreen Davie, of Vancouver; Wren Jean Davidson, of Port Washington, Pender Island, and Wren Lorna Green, of Vancouver.

Honors for Brides-Elect

Honoring her future daughter-in-law, Miss Marjorie Delf, Mrs. Alan Campbell, Dallas Road, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Pen Campbell, entertained on Thursday evening at a personal shower. Together with the pretty gifts the bride-elect was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and white heather. Mrs. J. H. Delf presided when a buffet supper was served at the close of an enjoyable evening. The table, covered with a lovely cutwork cloth, was centred with a crystal bowl of white gladioli and lighted by white tapers in crystal holders. The guests were Mrs. J. H. Delf, Mrs. A. D. Stevenson, Mrs. R. McConnan, Mrs. Arthur Roberts, Mrs. Don King, Mrs. Bernard Kjekstad, Mrs. E. C. Lewis, Mrs. R. Leighton, Mrs. B. Rennie, Mrs. Herbert Clark, Mrs. Leslie Exel and Misses Audrey Boorman, Doreen King, May Wootton and Clare King.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Gordon E. Bowes, Gonzales Hill, was hostess at a delightful party given in honor of Miss Brenda Stonham and Lieut. Randle Mathews. The reception rooms were effectively decorated with asters, dahlias and African marigolds. Upon their arrival, a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses was presented to Miss Stonham and a white carnation boutonniere to Lieutenant Mathews. The former was then given the end of a ball of string and instructed to wind it, following where it might lead her, and in this novel way she discovered many useful kitchen accessories in green enamel which were attached to the string and hidden about the house. A buffet supper was served later in the evening. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Mead-Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Laundy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Laundy, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Tuckey, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stenner, Mrs. D. H. Hockley, Mrs. R. Young, Mrs. P. Edgell, Mrs. E. Lee-Warner, Mrs. E. Minch, Misses Emily Nelson, Billy Wood, Winifred Snape, Hilda Hinder, Marie Adamson, Ruth Sherman, Anne Bapty, Elizabeth Thorneycroft, Ruth Rayment, Betty Tuckey, Frances Price, Constance Bonner, May Wootton, Mary Cullum, Greta Hebden, and Lieut. Jack Green, Lieut. Ken Rose, Lieut. Godfrey Johnson, Lieut. J. Armstrong, Sgmn. Arthur Lee, Messrs. George Goodlake, J. Macdonald and Tom Goodlake.

Seek Matriculation For Members of Forces

The first meeting of the season was held by the Prince Edward Branch, No. 91, Canadian Legion, on Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall, Langford, with President F. J. Day in the chair.

After discussion the following resolution was drawn up, to be presented to the education department: "Whereas many young men and women who left high school to join the forces will be confronted with a great handicap when they return to civil life, be it resolved that the education authorities be asked to grant junior matriculation standing to all men or women who had joined the forces and had completed at least three years at the high school."

SUNDAY SCHOOL OPENS

St. Mary's Anglican Sunday School, Oak Bay, will reopen with a children's service in the church on Sunday next, September 12, at 9:45 a.m. Parents and children are urged to attend.

General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the Eighth Army, said of the Canadians at Sicily: "I am very pleased indeed to have Canadians under my command. They have done well. In fact, they were terrific on the beaches and in the attack on the island."

W.R.A.C. Hears Solution to Many Problems

At a special meeting of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee held Thursday morning at the Empress Hotel, members of the board met J. A. Klein, administrator of women's, misses' and children's wear.

A number of complaints which have been brought to the attention of the committee were discussed with Mr. Klein, including the shortage of children's underwear, which has been a subject of worry to many mothers. The shortage, Mr. Klein said, occurred because it was impossible to obtain the necessary amount of material from Great Britain, and of the amounts received, military needs accounted for one-third. However, steps have been taken to build up a stock of children's underwear, even at the expense of underwear for adults, although Mr. Klein admitted that the question of elastic could not be satisfactorily answered while the production of rubber was short.

The complaint from the Trades and Labor Council that workmen are unable to obtain heavy underwear was discussed and a satisfactory solution to this problem is being formed. With regard to infant's clothing, Mr. Klein stated that there would be an ample supply, but owing to labor shortages, the consignment would not arrive in one shipment at the beginning of the season, but would have to be spread out through the year.

Another complaint regarding the quota of commodities for Victoria was brought up and Mr. Klein promised that the committee of distribution to trades was making a study of population trends in order that quotas could be adjusted. He reminded the members that Victoria had already received a 10 per cent increase in its quota.

Mr. Klein asked the committee to remember that shortages were not common to Victoria, but that similar conditions were apparent in every large city across the country, and that some of this was due to increased incomes; when people, unable to purchase automobiles and refrigerators, were buying more clothing. He cited the instance of mothers buying diapers and said that although there were now 50 per cent more diapers manufactured than ever before, prospective mothers were ordering them in lots of three dozen, whereas before the war, the average mother ordered only one dozen.

Mr. Klein promised the shortage of small boys' pants would be overcome within a month or two as a large shipment of tweed is on its way from Great Britain and would be reserved exclusively for children's use. In fact, he said, that children's clothing would receive priority over adults and that the production of these goods this year would be 30 per cent over that of 1941.

The speaker was warmly thanked by the chairman, Mrs. Paul Smith.

Increase in Students At Victoria Normal

A big increase in the number of students attending Victoria Normal School this year is shown, there being seventy-four this year as compared with thirty last term. This year's class includes sixty-eight women and six men, who come from all parts of the province, it was announced by the Department of Education on Thursday.

Vancouver Normal has enrolled 145 students so far, making a total of 219 in the province, as compared with 220 last year.

Form New C.C.F. Club

A new C.C.F. Club has been formed in Ocean Falls following a visit from Herbert Gargraves, M.P.P. for Mackenzie Riding. Provisional officers are: Chairman, Bert Ollett, and secretary, R. Weaver, both men being executive members of local unions. Other C.C.F. Clubs formed within recent weeks are, on Vancouver Island, Nixon Creek, Chemainus, Youbou, Esquimalt; in Vancouver, The New Industrial Club; in the Yukon clubs have been formed at Whitehorse, Dawson and Mayo. Atlin City and Brouse have also been granted charters from the C.C.F. Provincial Executive, British Columbia section.

Your Health and Your Weight

Jas. W. Barton, M.D.

ACQUIRING THE MIDDLE-AGE SPREAD IS SLOW AND GRADUAL

Until recently it was considered quite natural for men and women as they approached middle age to put on extra pounds of weight. In fact, insurance companies expected it and increased the amount of their premiums in proportion to the average increase in weight. The protruding abdomen of middle age was considered normal, and if it was not larger than the chest, the applicant for insurance was accepted if otherwise fit. As a matter of fact, the expanded chest should really be not less than eight inches more than the abdomen.

The amount of food we should eat depends to some extent on age, as the growing child needs much more food than an adult unless the adult does hard physical work. Also, the man or woman doing hard physical work requires not less than 25 to 35 per cent more food than one who does light clerical or housework.

It so happens that the great majority of us as we approach middle age slow down on the amount of work we do or exercise we take, but we fail to slow down or cut down on our appetite or desire for food. We change our daily habits as to work or exercise, but we do not change our daily habits as to food intake; in fact, because there is more time to eat and perhaps more money to buy food, we choose richer food. The natural result, then, as "expected" by insurance companies, is an increase in weight. Weight comes on "naturally," but it is not really natural, not proper, that the weight of men and women should increase after the age of thirty.

While many men and women begin to put on excess weight in their thirties, it is in the early forties that most excess weight occurs, and with it the individual is considered of middle age as he or she has acquired, to a greater or less extent, what is called "the middle-age spread."

In his book, "Treatment of the Patient Past Fifty," Dr. Ernst P. Boas, assistant clinical professor of medicine, Columbia University, says: "It commonly happens that, after the age of forty, food intake is in excess of the energy requirements of the body, and adiposity (increased amount of fat) results. Increase in fat tissue and the development of the protruding abdomen or pot-belly are almost universal in middle age. It is only in the sixties that a loss of weight occurs, due in large measure to the loss of water from the tissues."

However, it is not only because we work less and continue to eat as much and more as we approach middle age that causes overweight. Another important factor in causing overweight is that our body processes begin to work at a slower rate and so excess food, instead of being used or burned in the body, is stored in and on the body as fat. Thus we speak of the normal rate at which the body processes work as being 100. As we grow older, the rate may drop to 95 or even to 90, which means that the body takes in 5 to 10 per cent less oxygen to burn up the foods eaten. The thyroid gland which controls the rate at which the body processes work is itself doing less work, producing less thyroid juice, as we grow older.

Thus a slower acting thyroid gland and a gradual loss of vigor accounts for the gradual accumulation of fat as we grow older.

How can the middle aged and older man and woman know just how much food they should eat daily? Generally speaking, a reduction of 15 to 20 per cent of the food needs of the man and woman in their thirties would be about right. The amount of food needed by the average adult man living a quiet life indoors is about 2,200 calories and of a woman about 1,800 to 2,000 calories. If engaged in light work a man requires 2,500 calories and a woman 2,000 to 2,200 calories. Heavier work would require 3,000 calories and very heavy work 4,000 to 5,000 calories.

Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

FARMER BROWN'S BOY IS STARTLED

Farmer Brown's boy wasn't happy. No sir, he wasn't happy. His heart was filled with sorrow, sorrow because he had killed Bluffer the Adder. To be sure Bluffer was only a snake and a very homely, not to say ugly looking one at that. But he was one of the little people of the Green Meadows and never had harmed Farmer Brown's boy and, couldn't have he had wanted to. Farmer Brown's boy couldn't help but feel that Bluffer had had just as much right to live as any one else. Once he wouldn't have felt that way, but that was before he had learned to love all the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest and to understand that they have feelings just as we have, and that even the humblest of them has the right to live.

Farmer Brown's boy made no sound until Bluffer had had time to get some distance.

Hanging limply over the top rail of the old fence the body of Bluffer swung in the wind. Farmer Brown's boy thought of how bravely Bluffer had tried to frighten him and had almost succeeded. He thought of what a giant he must have looked to Bluffer and what a lot of courage it had taken to face him and pretend that he couldn't fight, especially when Bluffer had known all the time that he couldn't possibly hurt Farmer Brown's boy.

"It was real bravery," muttered Farmer Brown's boy. "He knew all the time that if he couldn't scare me into leaving him alone he didn't have the least chance in the world. Now with Buzz-Tail the Rattler or Pilot the Copperhead it would have been different. It wouldn't have been half so brave of them for they would have known that a bite from them would have ended the fight with me. They are dangerous and they know it. But this little fellow wasn't dangerous at all and he knew that. That is what I call real, true bravery."

He turned to the fence and picked up the body of Bluffer. Then he stretched it out on the ground on its stomach to see just how long Bluffer was. The instant he let go of it something happened.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's boy, and stared at the body of Bluffer with startled eyes. It had rolled over on its back! He poked it with one foot but it didn't move. Then he rolled it over onto its stomach again and the instant he took his foot away it rolled back stomach up. Farmer Brown's boy stared harder than ever. There certainly was something very queer about that snake. He tried it again and the same thing happened. Then Farmer Brown's Boy went off a little way where he could watch but not be himself in plain sight of that body. For a time nothing happened. Then he thought he saw just a little movement. He held his breath. The body rolled over again, this time onto its stomach. Very slowly Bluffer's head was raised and he looked this way and that. Then Farmer Brown's boy stamped one foot. Instantly Bluffer was on his back just as before, as lifeless a looking thing as ever was.

A great light broke over Farmer Brown's boy and a load was lifted from his heart. All the gladness came back into the day and he chuckled. Then he kept perfectly still. After a while Bluffer rolled over once more, raised his head, saw no one, and glided away through the grass. Farmer Brown's boy made no sound until Bluffer had had time to get some distance. Then he burst out laughing.

"You old fraud!" he exclaimed. "You old bluffer! First you try to scare me and then you make me think I have killed you. That's Unc' Billy Possum's trick and I wonder where you learned it. You made one mistake. If it hadn't been for that I never would have found you out. You seem to think that in order to appear dead you must be on your back. If you hadn't rolled over I never would have known that I didn't kill you. I certainly have learned something today. I suppose you are chuckling to yourself to think how smart you were and how you fooled me. I don't blame you. You have a right to chuckle. There's one thing you don't know and I wish you did. That is that you will never need to fear me again."

With this Farmer Brown's boy started for home whistling merrily. As he passed the garden he stopped to take Old Mr. Toad from his pocket and set him free.

"Anyway I've done one good turn today," said he as Old Mr. Toad hopped under a cabbage leaf.

What Today Means

"VIRGO"

If September 10 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., 2:30 to 4:30 and 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., 6:30 to 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. until midnight.

Today let your conscience be your guide should there be any question in your mind as to whether you are acting in an ethical or unethical manner regarding any kind of a business transaction. Today say what you have to say, and resist any temptation to resort to any form of equivocation, if you wish to avoid finding yourself in a complicated situation. In the regulation of your business affairs you may have need to assert your authority should anyone question it. A tendency to exaggerate may be one of the noticeably outstanding traits of both the young and old today, so it will pay to investigate any wild tale if you wish to have the actual facts concerning it. Married, engaged and courting couples may find it helpful to remember that "we know the truth not only by the reason, but also by the heart."

If a woman and September 10 is your birthday, you should always maintain a liberal regard for everyone's religious and political convictions, and you must never attempt to force yours upon anyone if you wish to retain friends and avoid making enemies. A headless household, like a captainless ship, is apt to reflect a state of disorganization, so insist on yours having one that is recognized. As a missionary, teacher, actress, lecturer, singer, writer, trained nurse, business executive, sales agent, secretary, factory or Government employee, you ought to get surprisingly gratifying results. Apparently you have the qualities any man would want his wife to possess, so if you have chosen the right Mr. Right your married life should be ideal.

The child born September 10 generally at a surprisingly young age soon learns whether a parental "no" is to be regarded as final or not, and if any doubt is permitted to exist in his mind both father and mother have only themselves to thank for an endless amount of trouble due to this youngster forming the habit of arguing. Sharp-witted and ambitious Virgo children can be expected to hold their own in life's race.

If a man and September 10 is your natal day do not make the mistake of taking an arbitrary stand in any matter worthy of consideration. You may have to learn to adjust yourself to people and their peculiarities if you are not to find yourself in a continuous state of irritation. Through your activity in the field of commerce, finance, journalism, literature, religion, engineering, art, music, drama, medicine, jurisprudence, or military operations, you may find yourself commanding the respect and admiration of many people.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CHILDREN WITH FREQUENT COLDS AND STOMACH UPSETS MAY NEED THYROID EXTRACT

When an individual is nervous, jumpy, over-active mentally and physically, heart rapid, the physician usually advises a metabolism test which shows the rate at which the body processes are working. In a case such as the above, the test will usually show that the body processes of this individual are working 15 per cent or more faster than normal. And the cause of this speeding up process is an over-active thyroid gland. The treatment is rest and iodine and if necessary removal of the thyroid gland by surgery or X-rays.

On the other hand, where the individual is sluggish mentally and physically, is overweight and skin shiny, the metabolism test will usually show that the body processes are working at a rate of 15 per cent or more below normal. The cause is an under-active thyroid gland and these patients are given thyroid extract daily to bring the rate at which the body processes work up to normal.

The above symptoms of the over-active and under-active thyroid gland describe what should be called advanced cases. What about cases where the symptoms are not so pronounced?

In the slightly over-active cases, rest of body and mind is needed, and in the slightly under-active cases some stimulation of mind and body is needed.

Physicians have been finding many children in whom nose and throat infections, and also intestinal disturbances and infections occur so often that they suspect some underlying condition of the body as being the cause. Dr. M. H. Stiles in Archives of Pediatrics (children's diseases) states that because some children were having distension of the abdomen and other symptoms pointing to a lack of thyroid juice in the body, studies of the basal metabolism were made in a group of thirty children and teen-age boys and girls in whom there were persistent colds, bronchitis and inflammation of ears and of stomach and intestine. Of the thirty children studied, 90 per cent had basal rates below zero or less, and 60 per cent had rates of minus ten or less, and for the whole group the average rate was minus eleven.

Of the thirty patients studied eighteen were given thyroid extract. Of these eighteen there were fifteen who showed great improvement, and only three were not improved. Where, then, these symptoms keep occurring, the metabolism test might well be given.

Ghost of My Love

By OREN ARNOLD

(Author's Note: This story is wholly fictional, and is not meant to portray actual persons, places or events.)

CHAPTER IV

What she saw, shocked Rosemary. Harry Boyle would never dare come here again. But then——

"What is it, Rosemary?" Little Boss asked kindly. "Is he someone you know?"

She must have been pale. Or the inher tremble must have been evident on her lips. Someone you know.

"Yes—es," she managed. It was no hallucination. It really was Harry Boyle, for no other man on earth had that particular spread-legged stance or that smirk of conceit and amusement.

In the fleeting second or two here years crowded down on Rosemary. All the world of hope was wrecked as if by a bomb. All that she had run away from back in Washington, all that she yearned to forget, stood here personified again. She knew now that her western trip could hold none of its peace and promise, but that she had simply come to a new trap in a new field.

The train began moving—a slow crash, then a quick pickup in speed. White-coated porters nodded or signaled courteously in farewell, and bored people looked out windows. Rosemary saw none of them. Harry Boyle was walking toward her and St. Clair. Walking slowly, deliberately, eyebrows still arched in surprise.

She had no out. Like an automaton, she said, "This is Mr. St. Clair," and saw the two men shaking hands and appraising one another. She didn't mention a second name—or if she did, Bill St. Clair reasoned, the train noise covered it. People do muff introductions like that, he knew.

"How are you?" Bill asked courteously.

"St. Clair, eh? Well-l-l-l! St. Clair himself!"

"I beg your pardon," Bill said. The train was roaring clickety-clickety-clack now. But the end of it was nearing.

"St. Clair himself," Boyle repeated.

"You—you are a citizen of Option, sir?" Bill asked.

"Yes," Rosemary put that in desperately. "He—he's here, Little Boss. Mr. St. Clair. He—he—"

"I see. That's fine, Mr. uh— I didn't—"

"He just got off the train, too. He—he—" Rosemary was almost frantic. She didn't want Little Boss to know this was Harry Boyle. She didn't want Harry Boyle here. She didn't want to burst out crying, as she knew she was about to do.

"Nee-e-e-e-a-a-a-a-a!"

That loud shrieking noise, a veritable whinny, seemed to come from the last car of the train. All three people turned.

"Ca'm down, you son of Satan! Whoa-a-a-a!"

The whinny was no train noise, after all. The train was fading now, but just across the track there was a very different commotion. Two mules bearing pack saddles were snorting and twisting and tugging at a tow rope, and a horse was doing its best to unseat an elderly man.

"Oh!" cried Bill St. Clair involuntarily. "Look out."

"Whoa-a-a-a!" the old man repeated. He looked comical, trying to cling to a saddle that was too small, but he was in danger, too. He wore no hat, and blond beard and hair sprayed out fantastically.

Next thing Rosemary knew Bill St. Clair was at the horse's side reaching for the bridle reins.

"Just take holt of this rope, mister," the old fellow yelled. "I c'n ride this critter down, but I might lose my mules."

The scene then became a two-ring performance. Bill took the lead rope as directed and the old fellow concentrated on his frightened horse. Bill dug his heels into Option's dirt. Mules dragged him at a jumping run, backing away from the railroad. "H-o-o, h-o-o-o," Bill cooed at them soothingly.

The old gent did his riding with more picturesque language, but in two minutes or so he had reduced the bucking to a gallop. He circled down the right-of-way, on to main street, and back toward Bill St. Clair with the mules. They were fifty yards or so from Boyle and Rosemary by this time. All three animals were settling down.

"Oh, why did you come?" She spoke to him for the first time.

"Why? Hear, hear!" Again he showed that cocky, smirking smile.

"I left you back in Washington. You have no right to hound me this way. What are you doing here?"

"My, my, you're all excited. Is it just because I met the famous William St. Clair. Sorry I didn't happen to see him on the train."

"Harry Boyle. I—I——"

"Now, now. Still a spitfire, I see. Pretty as ever."

"Oh-h-h-h-h!" She was too furious, too desperate, to be coherent.

Over yonder near a train water tank Bill had one mule by the halter and was stroking its nose. The second mule had ceased pulling. The old man was about to get down off his horse.

"Shore am obliged, mister," Rosemary heard the old fellow say. "These critters don't hardly ever see no railroad train."

"Is this what you call a stampede, I reckon. Two mules and a hoss. They're all I got. Bad as if I had a thousand."

"Don't like civilized noises, eh? Can't blame them much."

"No, sir. I'm obliged to you. Mind shaking hands?"

It was a way Bill St. Clair had. People "took to" him invariably. His quiet look of distinction plus an inherent friendliness seemed to breed instant trust, high or low. The two men stood there getting acquainted.

Rosemary had seen the action over there even as she talked frantically to Boyle. When she saw Bill look toward her, she spoke hurriedly again and in guarded tone.

"Harry, you—please keep quiet. Give me time. I don't know what you are doing here or what you want. But—but—go now. Go on away! I'll talk to you later. But don't tell anybody about you and me. Don't—oh, Harry, please don't tell Bill St. Claire!"

Must Wait for Promised Increase

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Old age and blind pensioners in British Columbia will not receive a promised $5 monthly increase until October, Pensions Chairman J. H. Creighton said today.

The increase was authorized by order in council August 10, but it has taken a few weeks to work out agreements with provincial boards (who pay 25 per cent of the pension) and to set up the necessary machinery for handling the payments, he said.

NO. 230—EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1943

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELABUNTY

THE DAY'S ROUND-UP

"We expect to have the best racing season in Victoria we have had for many years. The crowds in Vancouver were tremendous and, from what I can gather, this town has been just waiting for the opening day at the Willows," stated an official of the association yesterday while talking to this scribe in the sports department . . . Sports Editor Johnny Park, of The Vancouver Province, arrived in the city for the meet yesterday. He told me he felt pretty good considering everything and is looking forward to a great two weeks at the Oak Bay racing strip . . . The best jockeys available will be at the track during the fourteen-day programme, but Billy Woodhouse is not expected on deck until early next week as he has had a set-to with the dentist . . . Teeworth, the flyer which won several big handicaps the last few weeks at Hastings, has been shipped to Toronto by its owner. However, most of the other handicap horses are already stabled at the Willows and are being groomed for action . . . If this weather keeps up the opening-day crowd is expected to be over past records by a good margin . . . Ed Batteil, well-known hockey referee, dropped into the office last night for a chat. He has been back to Moose Jaw since I saw him last and brought regards and best wishes from Lloyd Camypre, who worked several games with him last Winter at the Willows arena . . . "The hockey set-up doesn't look so bright this season by all reports," stated Ed during the course of the conversation.

FROM HERE AND THERE

The strangest golf course on the face of the earth is on Midway Island. Tin cans for holes and a red ball are two of the requisites that go to make up the strange layout. Prewar air line workers, with nothing to do between planes, made themselves a golf course of pure sand. The sand had to be smoothed over by hand before a player could putt. . . . The plight of the Sacramento Solons in the Coast Baseball League is the most pitiful on the diamond map. The poor lads are just sixty-four and a half games behind the league-leading Angels at this writing. Second place 'Frisco Seals are nineteen back of Los Angeles and the Rainiers are twenty-five games but still holding down third berth. . . . Navy softball team leaves this afternoon for Vancouver where they will meet the Mainland winners for the British Columbia title this evening and then head immediately for a series of exhibition games on the Prairies, most of them in Saskatoon. Eight members of the team hail from Saskatoon so they will be playing before their home folks for the first time in a long while. . . . Baseball in Edmonton has been drawing the largest crowds of any city in the Dominion this season. They have even attracted more fans on the average than Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Royals of the International League. The turn outs in Edmonton have ranged from 5,000 to 9,000 and that isn't just once in a while but all the time. . . . In gratitude for his United States tour for the benefit of the Army, Air Forces Benefit Society, Gunder Hagg was presented with the Rickenbacker Trophy, a magnificent bronze completed in 1850 by the renowned French sculptor, Alfred Boucher, and purchased by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker from the Hearst collection. The bronze is mounted on marble that came from Ancient Greece and denotes human form, speed and dynamic competition inherent in foot-racing.

ODDS AND ENDS

Frank Thomas, who won the city golf title on two occasions, the last time during a driving rain and fourteen years after he won his first crown, boomed around Colwood course last Sunday in 70. The veteran, who is nearing the sixty mark, stood up on the eighteenth tee needing a four for a 68, but he wound up with a six instead. That's nice shooting for an old-timer . . . Remember when: Georgia Coleman, once acclaimed as the world's greatest diving champion, died of a liver ailment in a Los Angeles hospital three years ago last Tuesday night? She first competed in the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam, where she won honors in the springboard and tower diving . . . Also remember when "Sunny" Jim Bottomley, St. Louis Cardinals first baseman, batted in a dozen runs in one game against Brooklyn Dodgers to set a major league record nineteen years ago on Thursday last? Bottomley had a perfect six-for-six at the plate as the Cards won, 17-3 . . . Here's another remember when: Vancouver's Jimmy McLarnin regained his world's welterweight boxing crown after fifteen gentle rounds with Barney Ross at New York nine years ago tonight? Beaten four months previously by Ross, Jimmy gained the nod on a split decision. In a third meeting in 1935, Ross again won on points. McLarnin now is retired from the ring and is living in Los Angeles . . . There's some talk about the formation of an inter-city hockey league, taking in four towns now that the services have decided to operate on their own this coming Winter. Nothing definite has been decided on the plan, but if it goes through Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Seattle are expected to have franchises. However, the best hockey material is in the three branches of the services, but what set-up they have in mind we don't know at this writing.

Everything Ready For Racing Fans

Higher Class of Horses to Be Seen At Willows—More Jockeys Secured

More than 300 horses, at least a dozen jockeys, probably fifteen are available for the opening of Victoria's annual fourteen days racing session at the Willows tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

Every available stall and cottage barn at the Oak Bay course is occupied by a thoroughbred or horseman and limit fields of eight will predominate throughout the major part of the meeting.

The calibre of the horses this season is considerably higher class than previous years and officials are confident that several new track records will be established.

Presiding Judge W. J. "Doc" McKeon, Racing Secretary Bill Jones and Associated Judge Earle Lewis are confident that the forthcoming session will be one of the most successful in the history of racing in Victoria.

Jones is particularly enthusiastic over the outlook. "We have more horses on the ground ready to race that have been at our disposal for at least two decades and the fields will be better balanced all the way through," he said last night after his arrival from Vancouver.

Jones also had a word to say for the riders. He contends they are the most competent to file application for a jockey licence in several years.

BILLY WOODHOUSE COMING HERE

Woodhouse, who was the champion rider of the circuit last year, may not be available for saddle duty at the opening but will report later in the meeting. "Little "Hawkins," as he was termed by Victoria fans last Summer, had a date with his dentist earlier in the week and is resting for a few days. Mike Griffin may not be here for the opening either but with eight horses fields the limit, there will be more than enough pilots to fill the bill.

Officials are still hoping that Gus Dye, who nosed Alex Haller out by one winning mount for the riding title in Vancouver this season will come to Oak Bay. Gus announced that he was due at Bay Meadows.

Charlie Balls, veteran saddle artist from the South, definitely will not ride. The track management is to be commended this season for its foresight scouting the entire Northwest for additional riding talent for the Victoria meetings. A special emissary was sent to Gresham, Oregon, to sign jockeys from the meeting there. This ambassador lined up the presiding judge of the meeting, Russel Saunders, for on team and Russel promptly interviewed Weidamann, Diaz and Connolly and signed them to ride here. Saunders is making a personal visit to the races here and in a wire to local racing officials on Thursday intimated that he maybe able to bring along two or three other pilots. When informed of Saunders plans, Presiding Judge "Doc" McKeon chuckled, rubbed his hands gleefully and exclaimed, "Fine, I can use all the riders he brings and it will ensure cleaner and better racing." Meanwhile he is marking time until the entry wicket opens this morning to line up the card for Saturday's racing.

Armstrong Finished

Former Champion Through for Good

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9 (CP).—Henry Armstrong says his boxing career is closed.

The California Athletic Commission refused yesterday to allow him to go through with his contract to fight Luther (Slugger) White, Baltimore negro, in Hollywood on September 18.

Armstrong told the commission he was willing to fulfill his contract, but Chairman Jules Covey, A. P. Entenza and Everett Sanders had decided he might risk permanent injury.

"If that's the case, I'm through with the ring," said the little Los Angeles negro, who once held the feather, light and welterweight titles simultaneously. "I'm quitting, but not because of any trouble right now with my eyes. I'm just tired of fighting."

Armstrong, now thirty-two, has been fighting for twelve years.

Soccer Meeting

The annual meeting of the Junior and Juvenile Football League will be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30 at St. Louis College, Secretary Don Gray announced yesterday. All teams and others interested in the league are asked to attend. Election of officers for the coming season will take place.

Will Be in the Saddle at Willows Track

DAVE ALLEN

MIKE GRIFFIN

JOHNNY HRUSCHAK

TRIO of jockeys who have arrived from Hastings Park to continue piloting home winners at the Willows enclosure when the barrier goes up tomorrow for the opening programme, which will start at 2:45. "Gentleman" Dave Allen stands a good six inches more than any of the other boys, but this does not detract from his riding ability. He rode with considerable success on the Prairies and at Hastings. Mike Griffin, veteran race rider from the South, is enjoying one of his best seasons in the saddle. He started out in Calgary in the Spring, rode in Winnipeg circuit and also in Vancouver. "Smiling Johnny," that's what they call Hruschak in some circles and in others it is "The Mad Russian." He rode more winners at Hastings during July and August than he accounted for in the past few seasons. Johnny makes 106 pounds without trouble and is a natural lightweight.

Aggregate Trophy Goes to Navy

Sailors Take Top Honors in Big Water Gala; R.A.F. Wins Polo

Compiling 55 points, almost double the number collected by the R.A.F. and Army squads, Royal Canadian Navy nators last night won aggregate honors in the services' swimming gala, staged at the Crystal Garden.

Bluejackets picked up six firsts, four in the individual events and two in the relays, and scored a number of seconds and third to add to their fine total. They received the handsome aggregate trophy presented by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, sponsors of the gala.

Royal Air Force lads from Patricia Bay made an exceptionally good showing with their six-man squad and finished with 28 points. Soldiers also had a small contingent on hand and turned in a creditable performance against some excellent opposition.

L.-Bdr. Todd, British Columbia breast stroke champion, won the 50 and 100-yard events from good fields, while O. D. Buckbaro, a former Eastern Canada swimmer, scored a double in the 50 and 100-yard backstroke events.

Lieut. Earl kicked his heels to the field in the 100 yards free style, and Sto. J. Allister, also from the senior service, won the 50-yard event. Bdr. Bob Doherty took the 200 yards free style.

Navy relay squads took first places in the 200 yards and 150 yards medley relays, while the smart R.A.F. water polo club was undefeated. Old Country lads blanked the Army, 2-0, in the semi-final and turned back the Navy, 3-0, in the final.

DIVING EXHIBITION IS WELL RECEIVED

The diving exhibition, featuring Teddy Rau, British Columbia springboard champion, and Thornton Opie, a former Eastern Canada lad, proved very popular. The youngsters did a number of intricate dives and received quite an ovation from the fans.

Keen inter-service rivalry between the contestants and the spectators gave added interest to a grand show. The meet was capably handled and a success from every angle.

Spence Matthews, president of the V.A.S.C., presented the aggregate trophy to Lieutenant John Devlin, captain of the Navy team, and medals to the winners of the individual events and the water polo.

Flight Lieut. Kidd was coach of the R.A.F. squad and C.P.O. Bill Smith was in charge of the Navy swimmers. Lieut. Bill Gornall, Fortress sports officer, looked after the Army contingent.

Results follow:

50 Yards Breast Stroke—1, L.-Bdr. Todd, Army; 2, Sto. J. Lamb, R.C.N.; 3, L.A.C. Kewell, R.A.F.; 4, Sgt. Keegan, R.A.F. Time, 32 2-5.

Touring XI To Oppose Victoria

R.A.F. Cricketers to Play Here Sunday

Touring Royal Air Force cricketers from Penhold, Alta., will open their British Columbia schedule on Sunday when they oppose a picked Victoria side at Beacon Hill Park at 2 o'clock. The Old Country cricketers are slated to play four matches on the Coast before returning to their training centre, with Vancouver and Victoria getting an equal share of the fixtures.

Local side for the Sunday match was announced yesterday by Victoria and District Cricket Association officials, and is a well-balanced team. James Oakman, well-known cricketer, is skipper of the Victoria eleven, with Jack Payne, another top-ranking cricketer, as vice-captain.

Visitors, according to advance information, will field a strong side, and Victoria cricket fans should witness plenty of smart play. The visit will be the second to the Coast for a number of the Old Country players, and close followers of the game recall the splendid matches the Royal Air Force lads from Alberta played on their previous trip here.

Billeting for some of the visitors has been arranged, but there are still a few players without accommodation during their short stay here. Residents willing to extend their hospitality to the Royal Air Force cricketers are asked to telephone Frank Dyment at G 7987.

Hostess entertainment for the visitors has been arranged by Mrs. Renee Archibald, and yesterday Frank Dyment publicly expressed the thanks of cricket officials for this grand gesture.

Teams for Sunday's match follow:

Penhold R.A.F.—F.Lt. Milson, captain; F/O. Bryden, L.A.C. Hopkins, Randall, Meadows, Waddelow, Burton, Broughton, Powell, Jones, Smith, Hopwood and Wallis.

Victoria—J. Oakman, captain; J. Payne, vice-captain; G. Payne, J. Seager, Capt. Hobday, T. Harper, A. Griffin, B. Bell-Irving, N. Smith, Lieut. Barr and P. Shrimpton. Subs: R. Nixon and C. Pugh.

Capt. Ferguson has been named umpire.

WORLD SERIES IN FILM

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (CP).—Soldiers all over the world are going to see baseball's World Series this year.

They will see it in a two-reel, twenty-two minute sound film that will be distributed to all foreign bases, Lew Fonseca, promotional director of the American League and producer of its annual motion pictures, said today.

Filming the 1943 series—a clinch to be a rematch of New York's Yankees and the Champion St. Louis Cardinals—will be undertaken by the American League in co-operation with the War and Navy Departments and two sponsors, Fonseca said.

The announcement came as an overseas tour by an all-star major league squad also is being considered.

"I say, Jones, if I were you, I wouldn't let your wife go round saying she's made a man of you. You don't hear my wife saying that."

"No," Jones agreed, "but I've heard your wife telling my wife that she'd done her best."

Baseball Play-Offs Between V.M.D. and Vancouver Planned

PROSPECTS of the proposed British Columbia Senior "A" baseball play-offs between Victoria Machinery Depot, Vancouver Island champions, and the winners of the Vancouver League appeared much brighter Thursday, Jimmy Lyons, manger of the local nine, reported on his return from the Mainland. The shipbuilders' pilot stated that the Terminal City baseballers are in favor of such a series and have suggested that a twin bill be played at Athletic Park, Vancouver, on Wednesday, September 15, with the games billed for 3 o'clock and 8 o'clock. No confirmation, however, has been received from the officials of the Victoria Baseball Association, who have been in contact with the Vancouver League executive for more than a month.

Big Field In Cup Golf

Uplands Course Scene of Meet

One of the largest fields of the Summer season, if not the largest, will tee off in the Uplands Cup competition at the Uplands course on Sunday morning, Secretary Jack Beveridge announced yesterday in releasing the draw and starting times. The tournament will be thirty-six holes, with the final round carded for September 19, but it is under full handicap, which means everyone facing the starter has an equal chance of lifting the silverware.

Draw follows:

8:45—Dr. D. A. McInnes, C. Thomas, E. Revercomb, John Dawson.

8:50—W. G. More, A. Riches, R. Williams, R. Ard.

8:55—W. S. Kirkpatrick, H. B. Howard, H. S. Hurn, A. Dowell.

9:00—E. Badminton, C. F. Smith, Dr. H. H. Livesy, A. Phillips.

9:05—B. E. Porritt, A. W. Ockwell, C. J. Robertson, E. Peden.

9:10—T. G. Harris, A. MacKenzie, C. Brown, D. Johnston.

9:15—W. Twitchell, R. W. Watson, J. W. Kempston, J. Jeffrey.

9:20—B. H. Aaronson, R. Jenkin, F. W. Heath, E. Williams.

9:25—S. C. Trerise, C. Bevan, W. R. Menzies, J. H. Sledge.

9:30—J. McNeill, E. Shadbolt, A. V. Nobbs.

9:35—R. Gardom, A. L. Collison, R. Bramley, P. P. Ellis.

9:40—C. Sutton, H. Paulding, J. E. Edwards, L. G. Berry.

9:45—A. D. McLeod, A. W. Haynes, J. Dunn, Dr. W. A. MacDonald.

9:50—A. E. Irish, H. G. MacKenzie, Fred Switzer, J. V. Barnes.

10:00—G. H. Tyler, J. E. Neely, O. G. Sutton, F. G. Hope.

10:05—A. McGown, Fred Smith.

Oak Bay Tourney

The first of six monthly competitions for the season will be played on Sunday, September 26, at the Victoria Golf Club over eighteen holes on handicap. Post entries will be accepted and players will choose their opponents and arrange for their starting times. Two prizes will be awarded. There will be six competitions, medal and match play alternately, and at the end of the series the six winners will play for a prize.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (CP). — Mel Ott, about to complete his second season managing New York Giants with his club in the National League cellar, was given a new contract today for three years.

President Horace Stoneham declined to discuss the terms of the agreement, but it has been estimated that Ott was paid $25,000 annually for his services as player-manager in 1942 and 1943 and probably will continue at the same figure.

Indians Hold to Second Position

Divide Pair With Detroit to Keep Runner-Up Spot—Yankees Triumph

(By The Associated Press)

Cleveland Indians maintained their grip on the American League's second place by dividing a double-header with the challenging Detroit Tigers, winning the opener, 6-3, and dropping the nightcap, 10-3.

The Indians smashed out sixteen hits in the opener, sending Virgil Trucks to his eighth defeat. Jimmy Outlaw, just up from Buffalo of the International League, homered for Detroit.

New York Yankees steamrollered Boston Red Sox, 11-2, with a fifteen-hit assault that enabled Hank Borowy to coast to his eleventh victory with an eight-hit pitching performance.

Bill Dickey led the Yankee offensive with four successive hits that drove in three runs. Joe Gordon also drove in three runs on a double with the bases loaded in the sixth, and Borowy himself collected a double and a single, driving in two runs.

Out of the whole frolic only the slump-ridden Nick Etten failed to get a hit.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

With Catcher Mickey Owen at shortstop, Brooklyn Dodgers scrambled to a 7-6 triumph over Philadelphia Phillies with a three-run rally in the seventh inning.

Rookie Rex Barney, who started on the mound for the Dodgers, gave up three runs in the first inning and two more in the fourth before giving way to Les Webber, who received credit for the victory.

The Dodgers had no trouble overcoming the original deficit because Augie Galan homered with one on and Billy Herman bit a round-tripper with the bases empty in the first inning, and Dixie Walker doubled a run across in the second.

COAST LEAGUE

Oakland beat Sacramento twice 3-1 and 2-0 in the Coast League. Ralph Buxton and Catcher Bill Leonard were the winning pitchers, each of whom hurled full games.

Hollywood took a double-header from San Diego, 8-1 and 1-0. Bill Thomas, of the Stars, held the Padres to four hits in the nightcap.

Los Angeles and Seattle divided a Pacific Coast league baseball double-header, both by 4-2 scores. Hal Sueme laced out a home run for Seattle in the opener.

SOMEWHERE IN SCOTLAND, Sept. 9 (CP).—A fast-stepping private who broke the tape in three events featured a sports meet of the Canadian Forestry Corps held in a Scottish park and including such competitions as sawing and chopping logs.

The triple winner was G. Crawford, of Erinview, Man. He raced to victory in the 880-yard run, and the one and three-mile grinds. The high jump went to Pte. F. P. Hawkins, of Armstrong, B.C., with Lieut. H. M. Russell, of Vancouver, second.

Pte. H. C. Mallery, of Kamloops, B.C., chopped through an eight-inch log in thirty-four seconds to win while the Schindlar brothers, L.-Cpl. E. N. and Pte. K. F., from Grinrod, B.C., formed a smooth working team on a crosscut saw to beat other perspiring competitors. They cut through an eighteen-inch log in twenty-one and two-fifth seconds.

Reds After Youngsters

Cincinnati Club Looking Ahead

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9 (AP).—What Cincinnati's favorite ball club needs the most of for next year is outfielders who can hit, run and field, and every single one of the good rookie prospects is either an infielder or a pitcher.

The Reds' front office, noting that of the outfield incumbents only Eric Tipton is hitting near .300, thinks that a good .350 man—settle for .325 in these hard times—would be a boon.

So the greybeards look to Roland van Harrington, who's only hitting .250 but has stolen forty-five bases for Syracuse in the International League and is regarded as one of the better possibilities for next year. He plays second base. So does Lonnie Frey.

They also look to Lonnie Goldstein and Chuck Aleno, both coming up from Birmingham with good reports. Lonnie plays first base and so does one Frank McCormick. Aleno plays third and so does Steve Mesner.

Others of the boys from Syracuse include Hank Sauer, also a first baseman. He tried the outfield when the Reds had him up before and it could not be said that he sparkled.

A hatful of pitchers is due for a try from the same place, but pitching is not one of the Reds' urgent needs just now.

"We ought to be able to trade some of all that surplus stock for outfielders," commented Secretary Gabe Paul, "but nobody seems to want us to get any hitters."

Former Goalie Long Adrift

Lo Presti Spent Days in Lifeboat

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (CP).—The New York World-Telegram said today that Sam Lo Presti, former goalie of Chicago Black Hawks, of the National Hockey League, spent forty-two days in a lifeboat after the sinking of his ship in the Atlantic Ocean.

Lo Presti is a gunner's mate in the United States Navy and was serving as gun captain of the navy gunnery crew aboard a merchant ship when it was torpedoed last February, the newspaper said.

After forty-two days eighteen men in a lifeboat were down to one bottle of malted-milk tablets when they were rescued by a Brazilian vessel and taken to Brazil. The World-Telegram said Lo Presti was in excellent condition when he returned to the United States, ready for a visit to his home in Eveleth, Minn.

"His only complaint, in fact, was about hockey," the paper said. "It took a war to get Lo Presti out of an N.H.L. uniform and one of his principal concerns . . . seems to be how soon he can get back to goal-tending after he finishes his current duty."

The paper said the goalie has gone back to sea after a brief "survivor leave" at home.

Sea Cadets to Parade Tonight

Orders for the week ending tomorrow by the commanding officer, Lieut.-Cmdr. P. W. Tribe, of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets, Rainbow Corps, state that parades will commence tonight at 19:30 hours, sharp.

The entire ship's company will be required to be present at the headquarters, foot of Robert Street.

Vacancies exist for a number of new entries and intending applicants, between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, should present themselves at this time.

Discusses B.C. Postwar Problems

An interesting convention of engineers who serve the municipal and provincial interests of the people of British Columbia was brought to a close yesterday evening when a dinner was tendered to them at the Empress Hotel by the Municipality of Oak Bay, under whose auspices the convention was held at the Oak Bay Municipal Hall. W. L. Woodhouse, reeve of Oak Bay, was in the chair, and Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Public Works, was the chief speaker.

Mr. Anscomb made an inspiring and interesting address, and in looking into the future, the postwar period with its problems, he discussed the implications of those problems to the Province of British Columbia. After discussing the place of the engineer in the community, and in the development of the city and province, Mr. Anscomb spoke of the plans developed for the postwar development of British Columbia.

He told of the road plan which had been evolved after considerable study. It was no mean plan. It involved the expenditure of no less than $210,000,000. Probably those who had looked upon him as a "sound money" man might consider that this was a rather large sum to be provided for development, he said. But it was to be remembered that no less than $76,000,000 had been spent for unemployment relief in British Columbia, and there were no great assets to show for that expenditure. The development of the highways under this plan would mean much for the development of British Columbia.

MUCH TO DO IN FUTURE

There would be much to do in the future in British Columbia. This province was rich in resources and the people would look in large measure to the engineers to plan the development of those resources. Prior to the war there were problems to be met, but in the days to come, when victory was won, these problems would be greater still. The world would be different. Has the Province the means to deal with these problems? He thought it had. The means must be provided, and they could be provided, and with courage and skill the work would go on of developing the rich resources with which nature had blessed British Columbia.

The world was no longer trammelled, and petty antagonisms must go. Mr. Anscomb declared there must be no politics or antagonism in the development of the future—it was too vital, and that development must be for the common good, with all who could play their part engaging to make British Columbia, its cities, towns and all its wide expanse a better place for our people. There would be problems, though, and the facts must be faced. There would be competition in the markets of the world, and British Columbia would have to take its place in that competition. He was sure, though, that those problems would be dealt with, and that British Columbia would go forward to the place which its great resources and opportunities would enable it to take in the world of the future.

Mr. Woodhouse thanked the speaker for his inspiring address, and following talks on town planning and other engineering problems the meeting adjourned.

Credit was given to A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer of Oak Bay, for the organization of the convention, and it was stated that the next meeting would be held at New Westminster.

During the afternoon a talk was given by George F. Fountain, city surveyor of Vancouver, on "Subdivision Control." Also W. P. Beaven, chief road surfacing engineer of the Province, led a technical discussion on methods and materials and problems of roadbuilders of British Columbia. A visit was also made to Elk Lake to examine the new water supply for the Patricia Bay airport.

Returning East

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Sept. 9 (CP), — The Governor-General and Princess Alice will conclude their six-day visit to the Prince Rupert area tomorrow. They will leave for Skagway and proceed from there to Whitehorse, Y.T., and Dawson Creek, B.C.

From Dawson Creek the vice-regal party will go to Rocky Mountain resorts for a holiday before returning to Ottawa.

The viceregal party spent an informal day of leisure today. Yesterday they visited the naval station here and then went to United States Army headquarters, where they had lunch at the officers' club.

Seize Investments

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Berlin radio quoted a Tokio broadcast today as saying that Japanese authorities, after receiving the news of Italy's unconditional surrender, immediately started taking over Italian investments in Shanghai. The broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press, said the action regarding Italian holdings in the Japanese-held city was taken "according to international law."

REWARD FOR SOMEBODY

MANDAN, N.D., Sept. 9 (AP).—Peter Jumas, chef at a local cafe, has set aside $100 which he will pay to the first American soldier to set foot in Greece when the time comes to clear that nation of the invaders. He has wired Treasury Secretary Morgenthau of his offer.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP).—Elaborate precautions against gate-crashers at a British and Empire heavyweight title bout in London this month include special markings for tickets and identification of the holders at the gates.

The first tickets ever issued for a British boxing bout—135 years ago—were just as selective. At that time secrecy was imperative because the sport was illegal.

The fights were between Tom Cribb and Bob Gregson for the heavyweight title and 1,000 guineas, and between Tom Belcher and Bill Copley for the middleweight crown and 400 guineas.

Each ticket of the 400 sold at three guineas each, carried the patron's name and address, followed by this inscription:

"Admit bearer to the inner ring on Tuesday, October 27, 1808, within fifty miles of London. This day is called the Feast of St. Crispin."

To evade the police an arena could be erected only during darkness and the night before the contests Bill Gibbons, an expert constructor of these make-shift rings, was given the job. He demurred until a special bodyguard of sixty men was mustered to protect him from the police and rowdies. For his risk he insisted that every ticket holder admitted to the inner ring pay him an additional twelve shillings.

The story is that Lord Byron, the poet, was among the ticket holders but had nothing to substantiate his identity when called upon. Four paid toughs hustled him from the enclosure, Byron retaliated and was giving a good account of himself when Gibbons recognised him and intervened.

When the battle for the vacant heavyweight titles comes off at the Queensbury Club on September 22 the principals, Freddie Mills and Jack London, will face each other in a fourteen-foot ring—the smallest allowed in professional boxing.

Since London will weigh in at somewhere around 217 pounds, Mills 182, and the referee 170, the more than 550 pounds in the tiny enclosure won't leave much room for strategic withdrawals on the part of either opponent.

The twenty-nine-year-old Londoner, seeking to increase his speed before meeting the young and fast Mills, has engaged special sparring partners and George Ure, clever trainer of Blackpool Football Club. Ure improved London's timing and speed for his last bout with Al Robinson, which he won by a knockout. The triumph gave London the chance of a title bout.

Raider Bombs Rome

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP). — The Italian radio reported tonight that an unidentified plane had bombed Rome, which the Allies have not attacked since the massive raid of August 13 and led the Italians to declare the capital an open city.

The report, credited to the Stefani Agency, said an alert was sounded in Rome and several bombs were dropped.

Dominion Brings Action-Crammed Novel to Screen

M.-G.-M.'s "Assignment in Brittany," which opens today at the Dominion Theatre, brings Helen MacInnes' action-crammed novel to the screen as one of the most thrilling spy stories ever filmed. Pierre Aumont plays an intelligence officer who lands in Brittany impersonating a wounded Frenchman, Bertrand Corlay. His mission is to discover the location of a hidden submarine base so that the British may destroy it. Although he manages to fool Corlay's fiancee, played by Susan Peters, Mme. Corlay (Margaret Wycherly) penetrates the ruse. But she is loyal to France and helps him, as do others, and his assignment is a success. He is supported by a sterling cast.

Amusements

On the Screen

Atlas—"Five Graves to Cairo," starring Franchot Tone.

Capitol—"Coney Island," starring Betty Grable.

Oak Bay—Nelson Eddy and Rise Stevens in "The Chocolate Soldier."

Plaza — Brenda Joyce in "Thumbs Up."

Rio—"Wings Over the Pacific," featuring Inez Cooper.

York—Don Ameche and Joan Bennett in "Confirm or Deny."

ATLAS THEATRE Franchot Tone stars in Paramount's adventure romance, "Five Graves to Cairo," now showing at the Atlas Theatre with Anne Baxter his lovely co-star. Also cast are Akim Tamiroff and Eric von Stroheim, the latter portraying Field Marshal Rommel. It's all about high adventure, intrigue and romance behind-the-lines of the Rommel chase across the fiery sands of North Africa.

CADET THEATRE Shemp Howard will be seen in the featured comedy role of Shorty, the tailor, in Universal's "Pittsburgh," the Charles K. Feldman production. Marlene Dietrich, Randolph Scott and John Wayne are co-starred and the film is showing today at the Cadet Theatre. The original "stooge" of vaudeville fame, Howard was recently named "the ugliest man in the world" by a jury of experts.

OAK BAY THEATRE More than 150 dancers were employed in four elaborate production numbers of "The Chocolate Soldier," now showing at the Oak Bay Theatre, two of which were filmed on the largest stage ever built by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. This is the musical which stars Nelson Eddy with Rise Stevens, noted opera and concert star, making her debut in pictures in the role of a flirtatious wife who drives Eddy into a frenzy of jealousy.

PLAZA THEATRE A screen subject which should prove of wide interest to local film goers is the Plaza Theatre's current attraction, "The London Blackout Murder." Timely in its theme, the story is set in London's Soho district, scene of many of the eerie crimes committed by Jack the Ripper sixty years ago.

RIO THEATRE "Wings Over the Pacific," Monogram's romantic drama which is now showing at the Rio Theatre, is told against the background of a hitherto peaceful island in the South Seas during the present war. The cast is headed by Inez Cooper and Edward Norris, Montagu Love and Robert Armstrong, and also includes Henry Guttman and Ernie Adams.

YORK THEATRE Audiences that see 20th Century Fox's spectacular "Confirm or Deny," will remember it for the remarkable scenic effects. For "Confirm or Deny," starring Don Ameche and Joan Bennett, depicts the adventures of an ace reporter in bomb-wracked London. Night bombardment of the British capital is the highlight of the film and an entire street is destroyed for the camera. "Confirm or Deny" is currently at the York Theatre.

Outlet to Pacific Needed by Peace River Country

Following the construction of the Alaska Highway the driving need for the development of the northern part of British Columbia is the building of an outlet from the Peace River country to the Pacific Coast, J. V. Johnson, president, informed members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at the weekly luncheon meeting on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Johnson said he had returned from a trip through Edmonton, Dawson Creek and the northern part of Alberta. He had made by a party of Boy Scouts and Vancouver businessmen. The purpose of the trip was to have representatives of the North and to bring together the Boards of Trade of British Columbia and Alberta.

I believe this northern land is one of the most fertile parts of the country and may contain the general welfare of Canada after the war to a large extent," he stated.

He said there were 10,000,000 acres of arable land, only a part of which is under cultivation. Twenty million bushels of wheat are produced there every year which, combined with other products, has made a tremendous difference in Canada, Mr. Johnson stated.

Try New, Improved Ovaltine

If your child lacks a zest for food, it may be that his diet is short in very important food elements which science has discovered, everyone needs for health. His growth may be stunted or impaired and he may be an easy victim to prevailing sickness.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient in his diet.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B, and D, and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron—also quick foodenergy elements and high quality proteins—all for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child eats poorly, is thin or under par, why not start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine regularly? Get Ovaltine at your drug or food store.

French Train For Invasion Of Homeland

Take Same Course as Allies in Africa

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT
North American Newspaper Alliance

WITH FIFTH AMERICAN ARMY, NORTH AFRICA (Sept. French) men, many of whom have faced the German Army before, are going through gruelling training at the American Fifth Army's invasion training centre, preparatory for the day when Allied forces march the Last Axis troops on the Continent.

There is no need to tell the French to put their hearts into the difficult and dangerous lessons they are learning, unrolling on beaches swept by live fire replacing in every detail the barbed wire entanglements, demolished tank barriers, exploding mine fields, startling blare and thunder by the enemy and street fighting.

The French now going through this course are taking the same course taken by Allied troops now in the discomfort of heat and dust. The course is an impressive book, a continual operation, result, there elements of technique which are incorporated in the course.

The French do not know when or where they may be called upon to throw their army in the war, and place makes no difference. It may be an invasion, it may be an overland assault.

First French troops to go through the "mill" were [illegible] battalions. New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—Further buying of peace stocks today gave the market its fastest recovery in more than a month and, while yesterday's weak armament groups still were more or less under wraps as the result of the Italian surrender, the majority managed to regain their equilibrium.

The day's comeback was especially pleasing to bullish forces because of the fact it was negotiated in the face of inauguration of the record Government bond drive, in which virtually all Wall Streeters participated.

The upswing got under way after a mixed opening. In front were gold mines, utilities, steels, motors, rubbers, air transports and specialties. Gains of fractions to more than a point were trimmed in many cases.

The Associated Press sixty-stock average ended with net improvement of .3 of a point at 49.9. Of 883 individual issues traded—the same as Wednesday—587 were up, 137 down and 139 unchanged. Transfers totaled 1,092,100 shares, largest since August 3, and compared with 797,600 the day before.

DOW JONES AVERAGES

Dow Jones closing averages:

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, Sept. 9 (CP)—Checked by increased offerings after advancing nearly one cent in early trading, wheat futures scored further gains at midsession today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange when United States buyers made substantial purchases in deferred months. At the close values were 1 1-8 to 2 1-4 cents a bushel higher, with October at 1.11 3-8.

Support in wheat was largely in the deferred months, and while buying was well scattered, exporters were credited with fair purchases.

Export business in Canadian wheat was reported with the United Kingdom taking 300,000 bushels. It was rumored that 200,000 bushels also were taken by Eire, but this was not confirmed.

Cash wheat trade was light; no important sales were indicated. Close to 50,000 bushels of cash oats were taken direct from Western Canada points to the United States.

Rye futures advanced nearly a cent over the previous close, mostly on strength of wheat and higher levels at Chicago. Trading was local and included spreading between the October and May futures.

Country wheat marketings yesterday amounted to 1,008,000 bushels, compared with 1,622,000 bushels last year.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Sept. 9 (CP).—Moderate weakness was recorded by the gold and industrial stocks today on the Toronto Exchange, and other groups held steady on the whole. Trading was around 875,000 shares.

The golds had a sell-off and the industrials were higher in the early session and these groups reversed their trends in the afternoon market.

Senior golds moved to higher levels while the medium-price issues and the juniors were heavy.

The base metals divided on losses and gains.

Changes were narrow in the Western oil list and losses showed a margin over gains. Anglo-Canadian, Calgary & Edmonton, Foothills and British-Dominion were mildly weak.

Montreal Stocks

MONTREAL, Sept. 9 (CP)—Mild easiness in some issues brought mixed prices into dealings on the stock and curb market today.

Quiet selling took the rise out of some of the gold issues which have been on the climb for the past two days. Canadian Malartic and Malartic Gold slipped slightly.

Marconi, Building Products, Canadian Car, Cockshutt Plow, Massey-Harris preferred and National Steel Car were softer in the industrial group.

In utilities Winnipeg Electric gained 1-4.

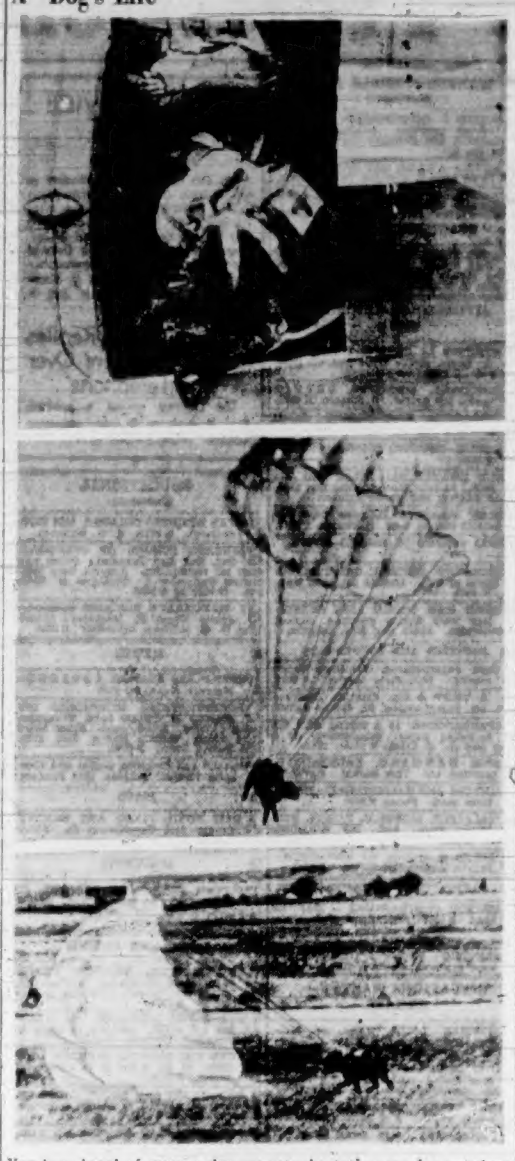
A "Dog's Life"



You have heard of many a dog mascot who took a regular parachute jump from a moving plane. Well here is an actual dog jump from start to finish. The canine 'chutist is Chips, an airedale mascot attached to a United States Army Air Base at Alliance, Nebraska. The public demonstration (this is his third) shows him from the time of take-off (top), floating in air (centre), to the time he nonchalantly trots away on the ground with his parachute still puffed out by the wind.

Liquor Revenue For Alberta Is Nearly Doubled

Province Has Surplus On Its Income Account

EDMONTON, Sept. 9 (CP).—The Alberta Government wound up the fiscal year ended March 31, 1943, with a surplus on income account of $6,373,063, but with a net funded and unfunded debt of $147,562,150, C. E. Huckvale, Provincial auditor, reported in his annual statement.

Despite rationing, the revenue from operations of the Alberta Liquor Control Act was the biggest single item of revenue, $4,989,767, an increase of $2,089,787 over the estimated revenue of $2,900,000.

Overall surplus on income and capital accounts totalled $4,878,277, accounted for by an increase of cash on hand and increased purchase of bonds and debentures and investments. Revenue amounted to $27,961,197, an increase of $3,816,924 over the estimated revenue, and actual expenditure was $21,588,134, a decrease of $1,056,689 from the estimated expenditure.

Expenditures included $3,840,228 for debt charges; $3,268,662 for education, $7,190,727 for public welfare, institutions and charitable grants, and $1,000,000 for the Postwar Reconstruction Fund.

Gross funded debt was $155,892,504 and less $15,358,060 for the sinking fund left a net funded debt of $140,534,443. The funded debt includes $20,332,500 in loans from the Dominion Government.

How It Started

"THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME"

Take it away!

"What's cookin'?" is one thing nobody has had to ask this past Summer. Everybody knows everything was cooking.

"The good old Summer time"—it is, as the dictionary says, the season of the year in which the sun shines most directly upon any region—an epic of understatement.

Getting closer to reality, the definition continues: It is the warmest period of the year—and now the lexicographer is cooking with gas!

Heat is something the word "Summer" has exuded from its very beginnings in Old English; then it was spelled Sumer or Somer, preceded and undoubtedly followed by choice Anglo-Saxon expletives that showed unmistakably just how these progenitors of ours felt about this particular season.

We may be mistaken and we wouldn't argue with the weather bureau, but we'll match our laundry and cleaning bills and our perspiration against any statistics of the meteorologists that this was one of the worst Summers of them all, which, come to think of it, each Summer in town usually is.

It is high time Summer was debunked.

Who wants its sirocco vapors, its grilling minutes and broiling hours, its sweltering dog days and sultry nights, its simmering "weeks and parching months—torrid, stifling, oppressive—leaving most of us red, white and blue by turn—stirring up in us the passion to emulate Sydney Smith by taking off our flesh and sitting around in our bones—good old Summer time—indeed! Take it away!

Now we know the poets have gone out of their way to say nice things about Summer—"refulgent," "perfumed" and "beautiful" are among some of the more restrained characterizations used about this solstice; but as far as concerns those of us who this year had to spend the Summer in the city, the poets can have it—all of it—we want no part of it from now on out, ever.

We wish we could give it back to the Anglo-Saxons, word and all.

Thrift—The Firmest Foundation

Utmost economy in personal spending is the firmest foundation upon which we can build our country's future and our own.

For Canada—Thrift helps to produce guns, ships, planes, munitions and food—it helps to combat inflation—it helps to strengthen the business and financial economy of the nation.

For individuals—Thrift enables individuals to acquire the soundest of reserves—Victory Bonds, War Savings Certificates, bank accounts and insurance.

Through still more rigid wartime thrift and consequent larger savings, we can continue to build on the firm foundation established during four years of war.

Buy Victory Bonds—and hold them

SHERIFF'S SALE

NEW FURNITURE, also UPHOLSTERER'S STOCK of COUCH and CHAIR FRAMES, FURNITURE, SPRINGS, Etc.

Under and by virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias issued out of the Supreme Court of British Columbia in an action Hymie Saperstein vs. Drury et al and to me directed against the goods and chattels of said Hymie Saperstein, I have seized and taken possession of the said goods and chattels, comprising New Chesterfields, Chairs, Electric Standard and Table Lamps, etc., together with a stock of Couch and Chair Frames, also several lots of Furniture Springs and Upholstery Materials, and will offer the same for sale at Public auction at 10.30 a.m. on Monday, September 13, 1943, on the premises at 762 Fort Street, Victoria.

Further, under the same writ and as part of the aforesaid goods and chattels, I shall also offer for sale at 11.00 a.m. on the following day within the yard of Messrs. Luney Bros., Ltd., corner Bay and Blanshard Streets, 2 New Steel Beams, 15 inches x 42.9 inches x 30 feet long each (5,774 lbs. total).

Terms of sale, cash. For further particulars and arrangements to view apply to the undersigned.

D. MacBRIDE,
Sheriff, County of Victoria.

Sheriff's Office, Victoria, B.C., September 9, 1943.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES

SEALED TENDERS, in triplicate, enclosed in the envelopes provided for the purpose, will be received by the undersigned up to 12 o'clock noon, Monday, September 20, 1943, for the various supplies—excepting Groceries and Fuel—required by the following Government Institutions: Provincial Mental Home, Coquitlam; Provincial Inanmari, Marpole; Provincial Industrial School for Girls, Vancouver; School for the Deaf and Blind, Burnaby; Oakalla Prison Farm, New Westminster; Provincial Mental Hospitals, New Westminster and Essondale; Provincial Industrial School for Boys, Port Coquitlam; Provincial Home, Kamloops; Essondale Sanatorium, Tranquille; Provincial Gaol, Nelson, for a period of six months only, from October 1, 1943, to March 31, 1944, fiscal year 1943-44.

For further information, lists of articles to be tendered upon, tender forms and samples, apply to the undersigned or to the officials in charge of the above named buildings. It is essential that tenderers should themselves see at each institution the class of material on which they are asked to tender.

All supplies to be delivered to the above institutions, without extra charge, as directed from time to time, it being understood that quantities as given on contract forms are an approximation only.

Tenders must bear the legal signatures of the tenderers.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

School Teacher Gives Evidence

SASKATOON, Sept. 9 (CP).—Evelyn M. Weir, twenty-two-year-old school teacher, told a Saskatchewan Court of King's Bench jury at the murder trial of Tr. William A. Clark, twenty, of Hamilton, Ont., today that Tr. Clark jokingly told her he had bought a knife to "kill or murder or stab somebody."

Tr. Clark was charged with murder following the death of Tr. Arthur Ernest Clifford, nineteen, of Toronto, at Dundurn Canadian Active Army Training Centre July 7 last. Tr. Clifford died after being stabbed.

J. M. Goldenberg and W. B. Francis, counsel for the defence, said during cross-examination of Miss Weir, that the Dundurn District school teacher had given testimony twice at the preliminary hearing of Tr. Clark and on neither occasion did she mention the word "murder."

Evidence disclosed that Miss Weir purchased dishes at a hardware store July 3 and that she had seen Clark buy a hunting knife at the same time.

Miss Weir also testified that she remembered Tr. Clark telling her that "he would go to hell for her."

She also told of a school wiener roast June 28. The school teacher said she met Tr. Clifford that day and had gone to the school accompanied by the two soldiers and three other persons.

Helen Wiebe, thirteen-year-old schoolgirl, testified that Tr. Clifford had been seated beside Miss Weir on a school desk with his arm around the teacher. She also said that Miss Weir had refused to dance with Tr. Clark on two occasions.

Dr. Maurice Powers, director of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police criminal detection laboratories at Regina, said that human organs given him for analysis contained no trace of ethyl alcohol.

He said there was not enough blood on the hunting knife shown him to determine whether it was of human or animal blood.

Retail Clothiers Hear Talks by Board Officials

The necessity of maintaining price and wage ceilings to avoid a depression such as followed the last war was emphasized by Horace Cohen, of Montreal, administrator of fine clothing, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, at a well-attended meeting of retail clothiers held Thursday night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. C. A. Griffith, of David Spencer, Limited, acted as chairman.

Mr. Cohen said that co-operation would be required on the part of both retailers and customers, and expressed the opinion that the standard of living had not changed appreciably during this war because of these ceilings.

"We are trying to the best of our ability to provide for the needs of the people—we are not providing for the wants of the community. There is a radical difference between needs and wants," he said.

The Prices Board was trying to cut out frills and feature essentials. Violation of regulations he described as sabotage.

J. A. Klein, of Montreal, administrator of women's, misses' and children's clothing, also addressed the meeting, during which the regulations affecting retailers were discussed and questions answered by the two board representatives.

Citing the rumors about rationing in the clothing industry, Mr. Klein said that "the people who know do not talk; the people who talk do not know." He said the board did not see rationing of clothing ahead.

Deliveries this year were later than they were last year, he said, and retailers and customers must co-operate in self-imposed rationing.

"Buy no more than you need," he said. "There will be no shortage if people will buy only what is needed."

Goebbels Says Germans Sure Of Final Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—Paul Joseph Goebbels, in his first statements since Italy's capitulation, told the Germans today that "he who gets weak in the knees should at least hide his weakness to prevent his state of mind from affecting other people."

There is only one sin we can commit at present, namely that of cowardice," the Nazi Propaganda Minister asserted in the latest edition of Das Reich.

The article, quoted by the Berlin radio in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press, declared that the "German people is rejecting all enemy propaganda to which it lent its ear in the second half of the first Great War with the result that Germany found herself enslaved for a long and disgraceful period.

"One day the hour will come when the last battle is fought," he concluded. "We have never doubted for a single moment that we shall be on the winning side."

Recruit: "The sergeant is always picking holes in me."

Corporal: "Well, you came here to be drilled, didn't you?"

Rome Bombed by Unidentified Planes, Italian Radio Reports

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Friday) (AP).—The Rome radio reported today that unidentified planes had dropped bombs on the Italian capital during the night, causing both casualties and damage.

A broadcast recorded by the Ministry of Information said:

"Some planes of unknown nationality dropped bombs on Rome last night. One of the bombs hit and damaged workers' lodging in the district of San Lorenzo and caused some victims among the inhabitants. Another bomb damaged an arch of the Aqua Marcia (Rome water supply)."

There was no indication from any Allied source that Rome had been bombed. The city was last attacked on August 13, when American Flying Fortresses made a heavy raid on railway centres in the city. The San Lorenzo railway yards were one of the targets at that time.

Huge Sum for Construction In Dominion

More Than Six Billion Dollars Since 1939

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Expenditures on war construction and production in Canada since September 9, 1939, total $6,500,000,000—approximately $600 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion, the Munitions Department announced today.

As Canada enters her fifth year of war, the record shows more than $720,000,000 in new factories, machinery and land sites financed by the Government to speed the output of munitions. This cost would average approximately $65 for every person in Canada.

The completed munitions themselves have cost the people of Canada nearly $5,000,000,000, or about $455 out of every $600 spent by the department. War goods not produced in Canada but purchased from abroad account for approximately $25 of every $600 spent, or a total of $250,000,000.

To help house workers engaged in essential industries more than $65,000,000 has been invested in prefabricated homes, a sum representing an estimated $5 out of every $600.

In the construction of defence projects, such as airports, more than $515,000,000 was expended, about $50 out of every $600.

From every $100 invested in the construction of new plants and equipment, $15 was allotted to the ammunition industry, $18 to the chemicals and explosives industry, $17.50 to the gun industry, $1 to the machine tools and gauges industry, $4 to the automotive industry, $20 to industries producing raw materials, $1.50 to the signals and instruments industry, $10 to the aircraft industry, $4.50 to shipbuilding and repairs, and $8.50 to housing.

All these facilities are the properties of the people of Canada.

Union Demands Resignations

J. Bligh, president, and J. Carmichael, recording secretary of Local No. 2 of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders, walked out of a union meeting Tuesday night, when the union accepted by a vote of 205 to 97 the resignation of its business agent, Archie Clyde, which the executive previously had refused to accept.

Clyde stated in a letter explaining his position that he was resigning because he felt that the union had lost confidence in him and Bligh and Carmichael walked out in protest against the union's action in overriding the executive's recommendation that Clyde be asked to carry on.

Failing, it is said, to induce the president and recording secretary to remain pending further developments, the meeting put Vice-President Frank Jones in the chair and thereafter voted to suspend Bligh and Carmichael and to ask for their resignations.

The union then prepared and sent to Pat Conroy, general secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, Toronto, a telegram advising him of the action taken by the Victoria union.

Vice-President Jones and a committee of shop stewards are carrying on in the meantime, and E. A. McLennan has been named business agent.

The Canadian Dental Corps on the eve of its fourth birthday revealed that more than 8,000,000 operations have been performed by its members since the outbreak of war.

SOVIET CLAIMS CREDIT FOR COLLAPSE OF ITALY

MOSCOW, Sept. 9 (AP).—News of Italy's capitulation was received jubilantly in the Soviet Union, where it was attributed largely to the Red Army's victories on the Eastern front.

It was interpreted to mean that the way is now open for the early defeat of Germany. The broken Axis camp, said the Government newspaper Izvestia, "is approaching its catastrophe."

Izvestia said in explaining the Italian surrender:

"It is because of defeats on the Soviet front in which all contingents of picked Italian troops were exterminated.

"The victory of the Red Army gave our Allies the possible opportunity to land troops in Sicily."

Mussolini appealed to Hitler on July 18 and 19 for arms, Izvestia said, but the Germans were tied up on the Orel and Belgorod fronts and were unable to spare them.

"Events on the Soviet-German front," said Izvestia, "determined the whole international situation . . . Every blow of the Red Army makes all the links of the Hitlerite chain shake."

The Government organ estimated that Italy during three years of war lost more than 1,000,000 of her best troops, most of them on the Don, Coronezh and Northern Donets fronts.

Pensioners to Receive Increase By Next Month

Old age pensioners in British Columbia will receive the increased rate authorized by the Federal Government at an early date, it was announced in a statement by the Pension Board on Thursday.

Some pensioners may get the increase, $5 per month, on their September cheque, but owing to the large amount of extra work involved most pensioners will have to wait for adjustment cheques, which will be mailed as soon after September 30 as possible.

"The October and subsequent cheques will be issued at the new rate," said the statement. "As the maximum income of $365 a year has not been altered and the increase is not to be given at a flat rate to all pensioners, but will depend on total income, it is necessary to review all cases and make individual adjustments.

"As a result of the fact that the Dominion order in council did not provide for an increase in the maximum income permitted by the act, there will be some disappointments. Certain pensioners will find that they are not eligible for any increase at all and others that they are eligible for only a portion of the $5. In other words, eligibility for the increase depends on how much income, if any, a pensioner has in addition to the pension, exclusive of the cost of living bonus ($5 monthly in British Columbia).

An old age pensioner receiving less than $65 a year outside income will get the full $5 increase; if it is more than $65 a year, but less than $125, the pensioner will be entitled to a partial increase; but if it is more than $125 a year the pensioner will not be entitled to any increase at all.

The British Columbia Government has decided to continue the $5 cost of living bonus and this, with the $5 increase, just announced, will make it possible for the great majority of pensioners in British Columbia to received $30 a month in all. There are approximately 15,000 old age pensioners in this Province.
